HOLLYWOOD'S HOTTEST AFFAIRS

Here they are . . . the glamorous, daring, exciting people who made headlines and rocked movie town with their romances, their weddings, and sensational divorces.

BURTON—WHO'LL THE BURTON?

EENIE, meenie, miney, mo . . . Sybil said she won't let him go. Eeenie, meenie, miney, moo . . . Lizzie told him, "I want you." Eenie, meenie, miney, may . . . He still could turn either way!!!! Unless, of course, Sybil does grant him the divorce Elizabeth says he should demand. The love story of the most famous couple in the world, as of 1962-1963-1964, has appeared in every single newspaper, publication, magazine from the Azores to Zanzibar, and we half suspect that if there are people in Outer Space tuning in to the Earth, they, too, are following the latest developments in the romantic saga of Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. This is no ordinary Man meets Woman . . . Man flips for Woman type of tale. What makes it different is . . . that during the duration of the heaviest speculation and gossipiest chatter, both Man and Woman were still wed to their respective mates. The entire situation smacked of false starts, separations, possible divorce actions, rumors and laced throughout this marital mix-up-menu, the heady concoctions of "revealing photographs" and eyewitness reports about the two principal players, Liz and Richard. What's the real story? Well, according to the producer of the film, Cleopatra (the ancient Roman locale was the background for the beginning of the story), Richard insisted that he and Liz were merely old friends; renewing a friendship that began twelve years before. Twelve years before, Miss Taylor was about eighteen. Dick is —quoted as having told him, "I'd never leave Sybil [his wife of fourteen years but] I'd (also) never do anything to harm Liz." As for Liz, her fourth husband, Eddie Fisher once maintained that "Elizabeth and Richard Burton are friends." Later, he changed his tune completely. Sybil surprised most everyone in Hollywood, London and New York when she brought her two daughters over to the States last April. She stated: "there is no question of a divorce." She then took possession of a luxurious apartment in New York City for which Richard had signed the lease only a few months before. Meanwhile, back in London where Burton and Liz had just completed their second film together, The VIP's, the beautiful Elizabeth was having all sorts of reactions to the news that Sybil wasn't about to file for a divorce so readily. It was also reported that she was miffed because Dick took an acting assignment in Ireland where he was to star in Becket. Although Ireland is just a ferry boat ride away, Liz was nonetheless upset at any sort of separation. On June 18, it was announced that Liz and Richard would "definitely wed . . . sometime in October." On June 19, Burton denied ever saying anything about marriage except: "Liz and I will marry . . . but to two different people." While you figure that one out, remember, anytime and before too long we'll know who GOT the Burton.

While filming VIP's on London street, Burton objected to crowds of onlookers. He walked off, followed by Liz.

Liz, Burton star in Cleopatra, (20th); also The VIP's (MGM); Dick's in Becket (Paramount).

Below, Sybil's quick flight to New York in April caused sensation. "No divorce planned," she said.

Below, agent Jack Gilardi whom some say may be Eddie Fisher's rival for Ann-Margret's affections. No comment from Annie!

■ Liltin' kitten, Ann-Margret's romance with Eddie Fisher has Hollywood a-gog. Eddie has dated such lovelies as Juliet Prowse, Edie Adams, but always returns to twenty-two-year-old Annie. What the eventual status of Eddie's and Annie's romance will be is a matter of speculation. However, it's no secret Eddie would like to keep her name on his dating list.

Connie Stevens

TELL US
PRETTY
MAIDEN
WHY YOU'RE IN SUCH A
LATHER NOW?

■ "Don't feel sorry for me," says pert and pretty Connie Stevens. Her engagement to Gary Clarke broken last spring, the blonde and bouncy actress-singer has been dating quite a few men since the break-up, and so far as marriage is concerned, "when I marry, it will be forever . . . so I want to be sure." Meanwhile, Connie lives in a luxurious home in Hollywood with her dad, and is determined to make her career the number one project on her ambitious agenda. In addition to her role as "Cricket" on the ABC-TV show, Hawaiian Eye, Connie expects to reteam with Troy Donahue in a new Warner Brothers television series this season. So far as romance is concerned, she's dating quite a few of the eligible young bachelors about town, but so far hasn't said "yes" to their marriage proposals. Some Hollywood-ites indicate that she and Gary Clarke might yet reconcile. Gary insists "I'll always love her," but Connie (right now, that is) continues on a romantic whirl.

Write c/o Warner Bros., Warner Boulevard, Burbank, California.

Connie's dates with Greg Benedict sparked "romance" talk recently.

Connie's eager admirers include Peter Brown, Gary Vincent (above) and Jim Stacy, below. She's also been dating actor Bob Vaughn and occasionally sees Glenn Ford.

TROY & SUZY TOO HOT— NOT TO BURN DOWN

■ A romance that begins under the warm Italian sun just has to become a memorable experience. How long it can last, however, is up to Fate, Fortune and the Fickle Mr. Cupid. When Troy Donahue and Suzanne Pleshette discovered their own Rome Adventure in Italy, while filming the picture of the same name, they also discovered that those sweet off-screen kisses were just too much to try to forget once they were both back on Hollywood turf. For more than a year, those two were the talk of Hollywood. Some even hinted that Troy and Suzy must be secretly wed. Troy admitted (in an exclusive interview with MOVIE MIRROR) that he loved Suzanne very much. He said, "I'd never stand in the way of her wanting to work after we were married." Then, last May, the columnists hinted that Troy and Suzy had had a disagreement. One pillarist mentioned the fact that he was bombarding her every day with bunches of roses, but that she refused to see him. Suzy had had many admirers for a long time before she and Troy dated. Perhaps she was unsure of whether or not Troy was the man she really wanted to marry. Perhaps she thought she'd be wise to date others. Who knows? If Troy and Suzy get back together again, we wish them the best. If not, we wish them happiness whichever way their romantic roads travel.

Has Suzy found someone else, or will she and Troy decide to take a walk to the altar?

Troy's in Palm Springs Weekend;
Suzy: Youngblood Hawke—Warners

DICK &
CLARA

“BABY, IT’S LOVE”

■ Clara Ray made her debut last April at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Hollywood. The guy who shared the spotlight with her was Dick Chamberlain. Clara's been Dick's steady gal for a long time now so when he crooned a certain melody that evening, he looked right into her eyes as his voice caressed the lyrics of a song called, "Baby, It's Love." Gossip is that since Dick's acting career is taking quite an upswing (he's making a movie called Twilight of Honor), he'll soon be in a position to take unto himself a wife ... and Clara will be changing her last name. Try saying Clara Chamberlain. Sounds nice, doesn't it? ...

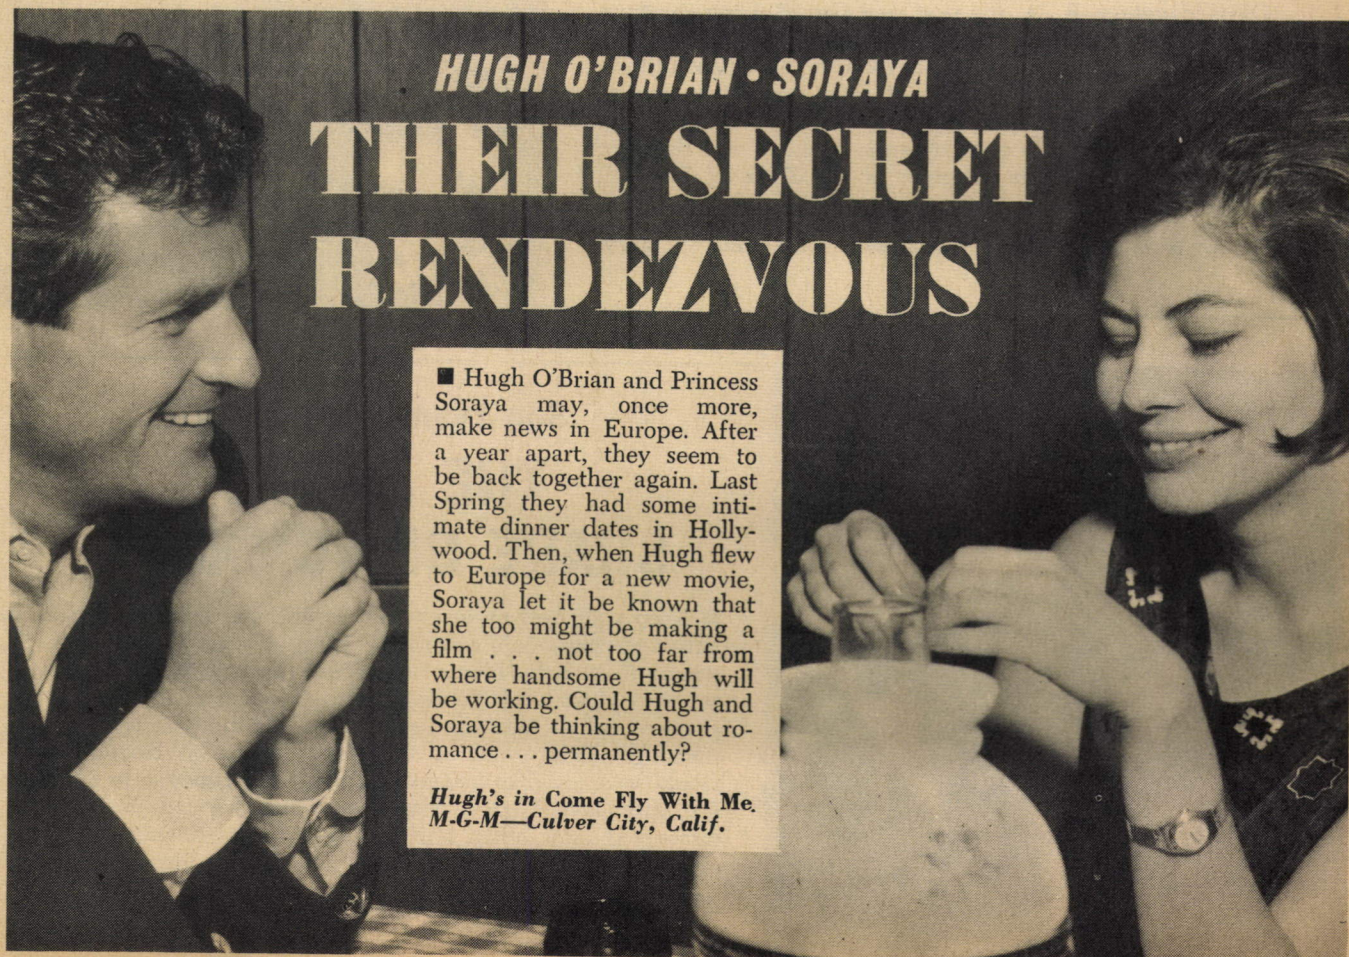

Write c/o M-G-M Studios, Culver City, California.

HUGH O'BRIAN • SORAYA

THEIR SECRET RENDEZVOUS

■ Hugh O'Brian and Princess Soraya may, once more, make news in Europe. After a year apart, they seem to be back together again. Last Spring they had some intimate dinner dates in Hollywood. Then, when Hugh flew to Europe for a new movie, Soraya let it be known that she too might be making a film ... not too far from where handsome Hugh will be working. Could Hugh and Soraya be thinking about romance ... permanently?

Hugh's in Come Fly With Me. M-G-M—Culver City, Calif.

Rod Taylor—Mary Hilem
TAYLOR'S MAID

■ The very model of a wife, in Rod Taylor's estimation, would have to be a girl like Mary Hilem. She would have to be beautiful, blonde, and as much in love with him as he is with her. When you come right down to it, she'd just have to be Mary Hilem, herself. Last year Rod and Swedish actress Anita Ekberg made headlines when they flew back and forth from Hollywood to Italy to keep their dates. This year, however, Cupid cut a few capers by having Anita fall in love and marry another actor. Rod, whose romance with Anita lasted quite a while, sent his heartiest congratulations to the newlyweds . . . and then became a newlywed himself. Rod, 33-years-old, and lovely Mary, 25, wed June 1.

Write Rod c/o M-G-M, Washington Blvd., Culver City, Cal.

George Hamilton
BUSS STOP

■ The romantic life of one, George Hamilton, has been keeping the typesetters quite busy as the gossip columnists keep changing their predictions about him from one day to the next. For example . . . George has been tabbed as reconciling with Susan Kohner one day . . . keeping a date with Bette Davis' daughter, B. D., the next, and then dancing cheek-to-cheek with James Mason's pretty offspring, Portland, the following evening. And to add to the confusion even further, what to the wondrous surprise of these columnists, but to discover that George also has a favorite girl in good old London-town. Her name is Catherine Milinair, and she's not only beautiful, but the daughter of the Duke of Bedford. George met her while making a film in England.

George is in The Victors (Columbia), Marathon St., Hwd.

Sue Lyon—Jim Harris
THE LYON'S
SHARE OF ROMANCE

■ Keep your eyes on lovely Sue Lyon these days and if you look real close you'll discover a galaxy of stars shining deep within those baby blues. Reason for the love-light happens to be sophisticated James Harris, a top-notch Hollywood producer whom Sue has been dating constantly these days. Although quite a few of the young swains in Hollywood would have loved to become the center of attraction in Sue's life, they haven't got a chance now that Sue and Jim have discovered each other. Sue's eighteen-years-old and gossips say that before she's much older, she'll become Mrs. Harris.

Write Sue c/o M-G-M, W. Washington Blvd., Culver City.

Glenn Ford—Rita Hayworth THE START OF SOMETHING AGAIN?

■ Glenn Ford and Rita Hayworth made Hollywood romance history in one movie after another. Now those love scenes just might... after all this time... become for real, instead of for reel. Bachelor Glenn has avoided marriage since his divorce a few years back from Eleanor Powell. In the meanwhile he's dated such gals as Connie Stevens, Hope Lange and Linda Christian. Rita, divorced from producer Jim Hill, was close to marriage with Gary Merrill, but that romance waned last year. With Glenn she may yet find the husband she wants. With Rita, Glenn may try marriage again.

Glenn's in Courtship of Eddie's Father (M-G-M) and also stars in Love is a Ball (United Artists release).

Rock Hudson—Marilyn Maxwell WHEN—OH WHEN?

■ The Courtship of Rock Hudson and Marilyn Maxwell has gone on for a few years now, and Hollywood is beginning to wonder when, or if, these two talented people will take that walk down the aisle. Marilyn, whose divorce from her first husband became final last year, was seriously ill for a while. Rock's devotion to her was tender and unceasing. He has continued to be the one romance of her life, but somehow, when talk gets around to marriage, Rock's only comment is: "We're just friends." Marilyn, however, has said that she would marry the handsome actor if, "he'll ask me... someday."

Rock's in Man's Favorite Sport? (Universal-International). Marilyn stars in Critics Choice (Warner Brothers).

Dick Beymer—Tuesday Weld OFF AND ON ROMANCE

■ Don't pity Dick Beymer if Tuesday Weld just hasn't made up her mind about whether or not she wants to be his girl permanently. He's been dating quite a few lassies between his dining and dancing invitations to Tuesday. However, he has made no secret of the fact that he'd like very much to give up his little black book to some other avid bachelor's keeping and settle down, once and for all, with a girl named Tuesday Weld. When, or if, Tuesday's willing to give him all her time, Dick Beymer will have won the heart of a gal whom lots of other guys would have liked to claim. (We hear he has a good chance to romance Tuesday into marriage.)

Write Tuesday c/o AFTRA—6331 Hollywood Blvd., Hwd. Write Dick c/o 20th-Fox—W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles.

Sal Mineo — Jill Haworth

A VERY PROPER AFFAIR

■ If there's one place on earth that lovely Jill Haworth would love to show Sal Mineo, it's a quaint, English sea side town called Bogner Regis. There's where Jill spent much of her childhood. Chances are that Sal will dust off his passport to Britain in the very near future because all those English relatives are dying to meet Jill's "intended." The blonde beauty is also proud as proud can be about her equally beautiful mother. Mrs. Haworth plays Jill's mom (talk about type-casting) in the film, The Cardinal. Sal's beard, worn for his role in The Greatest Story Ever Told, delights Jill who says: "He looks so handsome with it." To us, it looks like a very good romance with a future.

Write Sal c/o U-A, 729 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Write Jill c/o Columbia, Marathon St., Hollywood.

Gary Clarke — Maria Perschy

MARIA IS A BEAUTIFUL NAME

■ And beautiful is the girl whose name it is. At least that's the opinion of Gary Clarke (and quite a few other young men who envy Gary's garnering all of Miss Maria Perschy's attention these days). Although neither Gary nor Maria will confirm (or deny) any of those rumors linking the two of them as a definite romance item, it can be plainly deduced that Mr. Clarke seems to be getting over his break-up with Connie Stevens with the help of Maria's lovely smile whenever the two step out for an evening on the town. Maria is a French beauty who is getting a start in Hollywood films.

Gary stars in The Virginians (NBC-TV).

Mamie Van Doren — Bo Belinsky WATCH THOSE CURVES!

■ Former L A Angels' star pitcher has been pitching woo these days with glamorous Mamie Van Doren. It's been reported that the two are planning to commit matrimony even before too long. And, as if to cement their relationship even further, they say they'll work up a night club act together. Curvaceous Mamie and handsome mate-to-be announced their engagement April 1st, but have known each other since 1962. Mamie is the former wife of bandleader Ray Anthony. Bo once was a steady date of Ann-Margret. Marriage plans are next on both their agendas.

Write Mamie c/o S.A.G., 1150 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles.

Vic Damone

PENNY'S IN HIS THOUGHTS

■ "Sure," says Vic Damone. "I'd like to marry Penny Rudd, except we have a slight geographical problem. Her temper's pure Texan; mine's Italian." The handsome, Brooklyn-born crooner and the vivacious former Miss Texas of 1962 have been a romance item ever since the couple met during the pre-inaugural festivities for Texas Governor, John Connally, last January. Because Vic's many showbusiness commitments keep him travelling so much, their romance has been one conducted largely by telephone. However, the telephone company doesn't mind. Tis said that Vic's bill looks like the national debt. It'll be much easier on his budget if the two would wed.

Write Vic c/o AFTRA, 6331 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood.

Vince Edwards

SUCCESS—IS IT WORTH IT?

■ While Vince Edwards was still working his way through Hollywood in one movie after another in the role of a tough, non-romantic heavy, his romance with Sherry Nelson never became a matter of public speculation. However, once he hit stardom as TV's Dr. Ben Casey, Sherry's name began to be mentioned in print every time a columnist's typewriter spelled out V-i-n-c-e E-d-w-a-r-d-s. Then, last April, the columnists wrote about Vince and his successful Las Vegas nightclub act. But, this time they mentioned two other girls, Stella Stevens and Juliet Prowse. Is the romance between Sherry and Vince over? Perhaps. But if it is, can its ending be blamed on success or another reason?

Write Vince c/o ABC-TV, Prospect Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

Carol and Bob

THEY PLAYED A WAITING GAME

■ Broadway and movie stars, Carol Lawrence and Bob Goulet, have long been rumored to be on the verge of marriage. Ever since his divorce from his first wife, Bob's dating time has been spent only with the brunette Carol. But, they both waited a while before admitting that they were "that way" about each other. Now, at last, they've decided that they're sure about blending both of their magnificent voices in a love song for two ... sung to the melody of the Wedding March. Sometimes Cupid works a little slowly but once he's definite about the guy and gal he's got slated for matrimony, then ... watch out ... he goes all the way for them.

Write both Bob and Carol c/o American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, 6331 Hollywood Blvd., Hwd., Calif.

MARLON BRANDO: --- LOVE AFFAIR WITH THE WORLD

While in Japan to do Sayonara, Marlon visited various schools and homes to learn how the people really live.

■ Marlon Brando's fame stretches across the globe... from one tiny pinpoint on the map to another—from one huge metropolis to another—and now, this much talked-about actor is doing some important talking of his own. Marlon's conducting a one-man campaign among his fellow Americans. He's visited many places: Japan for his movie, Sayonara; Tahiti for Mutiny on the Bounty; and Thailand for his role in The Ugly American. He has heard these people talk about America and Americans and has come away with the knowledge that the world must be told more about the real American... you and me and our neighbors. We too, must learn about the billions of other human beings who share our world. As Marlon says: "Open your eyes and your hearts... the world is waiting to meet us... Show them the real American... the Beautiful American."

Marlon stars in The Ugly American and King of the Mountain, Universal Studios, Universal City, Calif.

TONY CURTIS—CHRIS KAUFMANN

WE TWO—FOREVER

■ After almost twelve years, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh ended their marriage. Janet remarried soon after she secured a Mexican decree in September, 1962. Tony was still being seen with Christine Kaufmann, a beautiful German actress he'd met when they did the film Taras Bulba together. Speculation about their possible marriage ran the gamut from "unlikely" to "probably." After all, there was a twenty-year difference in age between the teen actress and the thirty-seven-year-old actor. But on February 8, 1963, the two were wed. The new Mrs. Curtis recently announced she may leave films. "I want to be Tony's wife and only Tony's wife... forever," she said.

Both Tony, Chris appear in Universal's Monsieur Cognac.

Edie Adams and Eddie Fisher were guests at the wedding of Tony and Chris last February. The couple were wed in Las Vegas. Chris had just turned eighteen a month before she became Tony's bride.

RICK and KRIS

IN PERFECT HARMON-Y FOR LIFE

■ Five years ago, a pretty thirteen-year-old girl asked teenage idol Rick Nelson for his autograph. That little girl is, today, Mrs. Rick Nelson. Pretty Kris Harmon, the daughter of sportscaster Tom Harmon and former actress Elyse Knox, was a beautiful bride April 20, when she wed Rick Nelson. Now the happy duo are eagerly awaiting the arrival of Mr. Stork early next year.

Write Rick c/o ABC-TV, Prospect at Talmadge, Hollywood, Cal.

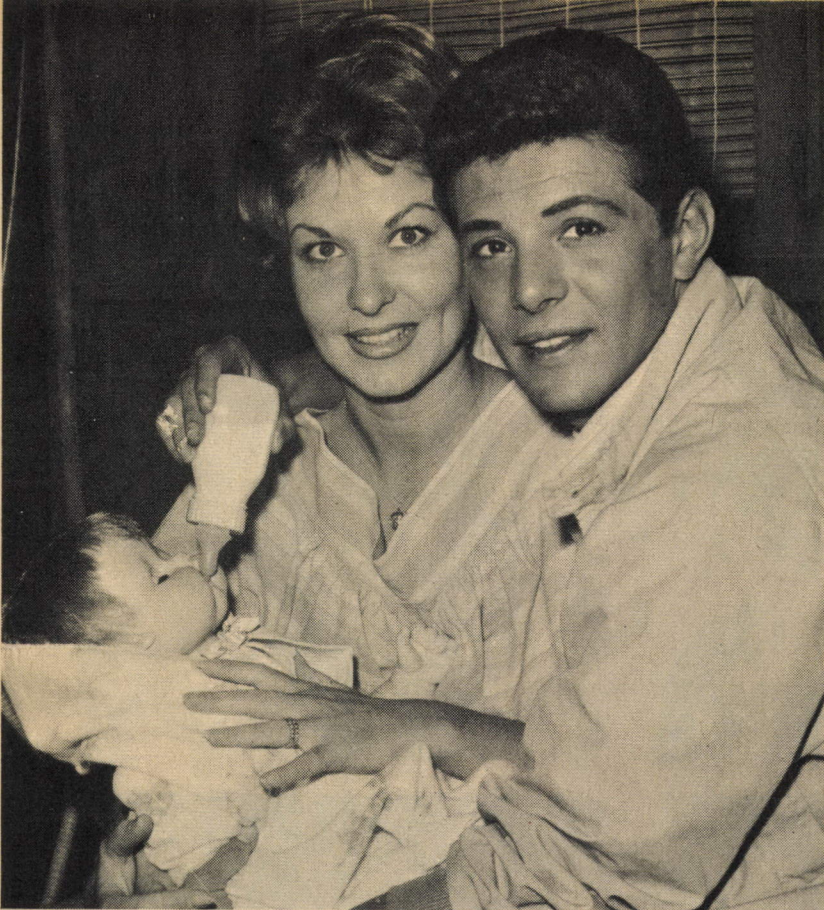

BRENDA and RONNIE

LEASE ON A PERMANENT HONEYMOON SWEET!

■ On April 24, 1963, the town of Nashville, Tennessee played host to a wedding that made every newspaper from New York to New Caledonia. Bouncy songstress, Brenda Lee, eighteen-year-old record and nightclub star, was married to nineteen-year-old Ronnie Shacklett. Although the marriage came as quite a surprise to many folks, Brenda and Ronnie had been planning a merger for a long, long time.

Write Brenda c/o Decca Records, 445 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.

PAUL ANKA

THE VERY MODEL OF A WIFE

■ From now on, every Valentine's Day will be precious to singer-actor Paul Anka and his lovely bride, Anne de Zogheb. The happy two were wed on February 14, 1963, in the City of Lovers, Paris. Anne, an Egyptian-Lebanese girl, models in New York City. Paul, Canadian-born, of Lebanese extraction, is awfully glad his bride can cook shish-ke-bab like an expert.

Write Paul c/o 20th-Fox, W. Pico Blvd., Hollywood, Cal.

FRANKIE AVALON

MARRIAGE IS OH-KAY

■ Everything was perfect between Frankie Avalon and his bride, Kay Deibel, until she told her loving husband that come this October, a little baby would be joining them. From that moment on, the two have been dickering about a problem that only having twins would resolve. "I want a boy," says Frankie. "It's going to be a girl," insists Kay. Meanwhile, Frank and Kay are practicing how to feed their future tax-deduction with a doll while waiting for baby.

Frankie's in The Castilian (Warner Brothers Prod.).

DION

"DARLING...I LOVE YOU"

■ Sue Butterfield DiMucci had a problem. She was very much in love with hubby, Dion, but ... knowing how he doted on Italian food cooked only the way his wonderful mother cooked it had the pretty blonde bride in a quandary. Fortunately, however, Sue soon discovered that she had nothing to worry about. Dion's mom set about teaching Sue her secrets. Result: A happy bride, and a well-fed bridegroom.

Write Dion c/o Columbia, 799 7th Av., NYC

SUZY and BRAD

ALL AT SEA

■ Suzy Parker, lovely redhaired actress-model (once divorced) and Brad Dillman (also a one-time loser in the marriage sweepstakes), ended a long, long courtship on April 19, 1963 when they were married on a ship headed for the Caribbean and an idyllic honeymoon.

Suzy's in Flight from Ashiya (UA).

CHUCK CONNORS—KAMALA DEVI

WEDDING SONG OF INDIA

■ Last April, ex-baseball star Chuck Connors married India-born Kamala Devi. Soon after the wedding, Chuck (who was wed once before and divorced) gave his lovely new bride a surprise present; a beautiful new home in the Hollywood Hills.

Chuck's new series, Arrest and Trial, ABC-TV. Kamala's in Brass Bottle (U-I).

DINAH SHORE

CALL HER MRS. SMITH

■ The game of tennis between Dinah Shore and Maurice Smith scored Perfect Love last May 26th when the couple, who met on the tennis courts, decided to say "I do" in a judge's chambers. Dinah's divorce from George Montgomery became final April, 1963.

Write c/o NBC-TV.

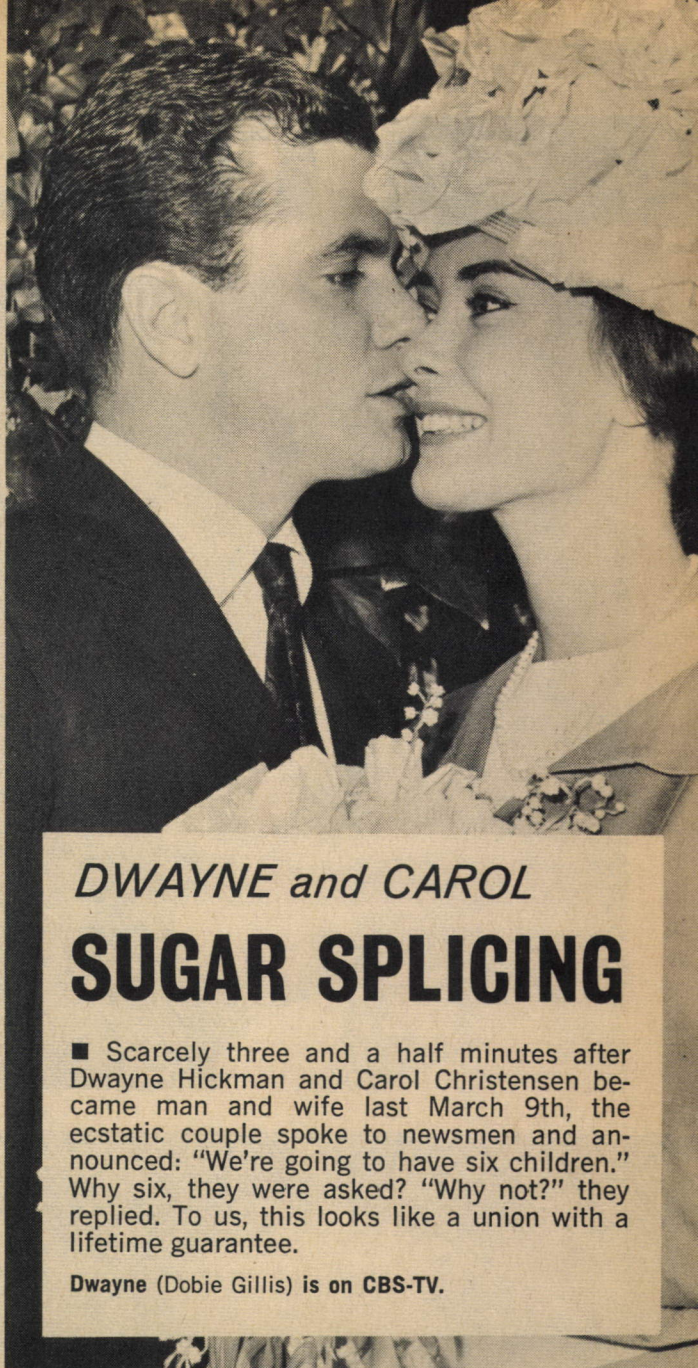

MIKE LANDON

SPLIT-SECOND CEREMONY

■ Mike Landon's first marriage ended on January 12, 1963 in a Juarez, Mexico court. Five minutes later he and Lynn Noe were wed. Mike has three adopted children of his former marriage. He and Lynn are hoping for a family, too.

Write Bonanza star c/o NBC, Burbank, Calif.

DWAYNE and CAROL

SUGAR SPLICING

■ Scarcely three and a half minutes after Dwayne Hickman and Carol Christensen became man and wife last March 9th, the ecstatic couple spoke to newsmen and announced: "We're going to have six children." Why six, they were asked? "Why not?" they replied. To us, this looks like a union with a lifetime guarantee.

Dwayne (Dobie Gillis) is on CBS-TV.

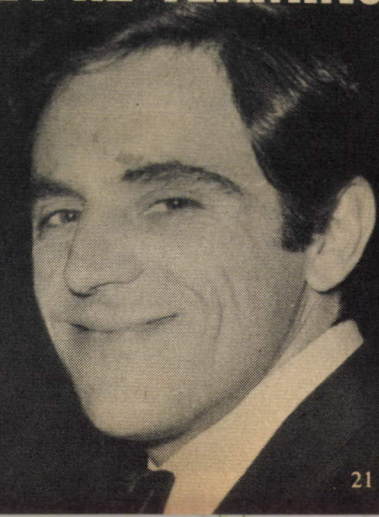

JOAN and TONY

BEAMING CAUSE THEY'RE TEAMING

■ Britishers Joan Collins and Anthony Newley can't help but sing, "Stop the World... We Want to Get Off at Honeymoon Junction." The talented star of the Broadway hit, Stop the World, I Want to Get Off, secured a divorce from his first wife last April. He and Joan made wedding plans soon after and tied the knot on May 27th.

SANDRA DEE — BOBBY DARIN

THE MISUNDERSTOOD MARRIAGE

ONCE they thought their love would be sufficient to overcome all the conflicts that would arise in their marriage. They had begun their lives together two years ago; a raft of headlines documenting their sudden elopement. A year later, another set of headlines announced the birth of their son, Dodd Mitchell. However, during those two years of marriage, Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin were the object of a tome-ful of rumors and gossip items. "Sure, we fight," they said. "Doesn't every married couple?" Yet, last Spring those "fights" ended in the announcement that the Darins had split and that Sandy would file for divorce. Perhaps they may yet reconcile. We hope so.

Sandy appears in Take Her, She's Mine (20th-Fox). Bobby's in Universal-International's film, Capt. Newman, M.D.

DO US PART

Above, Sandy's mom with whom she lived after the split.
Below, Sandy and Bobby when they eloped December, 1961.

CAROL LYNLEY

WHO IS TO BLAME WHEN IT HAPPENS?

ONCE upon a time, a beautiful movie actress decided to give up all the glamour and fame of her successful career and retire to the life of a contented wife. Carol Lynley had met the man of her choice, agent Mike Selsman. Together they talked to columnists about the idyllic life they were leading. When their daughter, Jill, was born, their happiness was . . . seemingly . . . filled to the brim. However, last April, Carol announced in public print: "I am not an unfit mother." It was then that the world learned of the break-up of the Selsman marriage. Hints of trouble had come along when Carol went back to work in films. Mike, the gossips said, would never stand for it. In his complaint against Carol, he insisted that her career would interfere with the raising of their child. After so many sweet words, this marriage found itself involved in reams of bitter accusations.

Carol's in Under the Yum Yum Tree (Columbia).

Should Carol and Mike divorce, both will demand sole custody of daughter.

JAYNE MANSFIELD

THE CONTINENTAL TOUCH

JAYNE MANSFIELD'S marriage to Mickey Hargitay took five minutes to expire in the courtrooms of a Mexican Hall of Justice, April 30. Immediately after, the beautiful blonde actress posed for newsmen, wearing a typically "casual" Mansfield neckline. At her side stood a handsome Brazilian singer, Nelson Sardelli. Jayne complained that her ankle hurt. Solicitously, Nelson offered to "kiss away the pain." Of her gallant romeo, Jayne says: "We love each other and hope to marry soon."

LINDSAY CROSBY

ONLY A PHOTO TO REMIND HIM

LINDSAY CROSBY, the youngest of Bing's sons of his marriage to the late Dixie Lee, planned a lifetime of bliss and contentment when he married former showgirl Barbara Frederickson on February 6, 1960. Three years later his plans, and Barbara's, crashed when she sued for, and secured a divorce. The marital happiness of papa Bing, both in his first marriage and his second (to Kathy Grant) is something Lindsay hopes to achieve someday, but when?

MARIE McDONALD

WED AT DAWN— DIVORCED IN DAYS

MARIE McDONALD and Edward P. Callahan kept their wedding guests waiting until dawn of August 6, 1962 before they said their vows. Twenty-four hours later, Callahan asked for an annulment. Within days, the "postponed" wedding ended ... permanently.

JAMES ARNESS

DILLON WAS WILLIN' BUT...

ACCORDING to tall, handsome James Arness, life at home away from the range of Gunsmoke's Dodge City, was anything but lacking in "discouraging words." As a matter of fact, Jim and his wife, Virginia, hadn't been getting along since 1958. They were married in 1949, had three children, and then separated in 1958 but no divorce action was filed until last Spring. On April 5, 1963, Jim walked out of a Los Angeles courtroom with a divorce decree in his pocket, and custody of their three children. On television, Jim's characterization as Marshall Dillon depicts him as a man who doesn't talk much, but lets his guns settle any big problems. In the court, however, Jim set forth a series of complaints that resulted in the "lawman" on the bench, seeing fit to end the TV lawman's marriage. Will he wed again? The Marshall's not saying.

ANDY PRINE

TIME TO START AGAIN!

1963 is a year young Andrew Prine won't easily forget. He landed the co-starring role in Wide Country; was divorced from his wife, Sherrell; and discovered that his romance with lovely Lynn Loring also evaporated into thin air. However, brunette Karyn Kupciet came into his life, and this couple looks very much like a twosome to watch in the future.

THE SONG OF LOVE

DORIS & MARTY TIED TOGETHER TODAY—TOMORROW— ALWAYS

■ The dawning of the year 1963 brought with it some distressing headlines. Newspaper columnists hinted at trouble between actress Doris Day and her husband of a dozen years, Marty Melcher. Rumor followed rumor as all sorts of reasons were given for what looked like an imminent split between the couple. "Other woman" problems were mentioned. "Career" problems were being indicated. Then, all of a sudden, split-up rumors "disappeared" as the couple appeared in public together constantly. Whether those early whispers were right or wrong isn't important now. What is important is that Doris and Marty look like their love will last from now on.

Doris is in Move Over, Darling—20th.

DOLORES HART: MY LIFE BELONGS TO GOD

■ A beautiful young girl, with a career that promised much, turned her back on the temporal world last June, 1963 and entered into the quiet, contemplative life of a Catholic nun. Dolores Hart is twenty-four years old. Behind her lies the acclaim of critics, and the memory of an engagement which she broke only months before her scheduled marriage to businessman Don Robinson. Ahead of her lies a lifetime of devotion to God and service to mankind from within the walls of a New England convent. "I'm not leaving anyone or anything behind," she said, "but I'm taking a full, grateful heart with me." Always a deeply religious girl, Dolores' decision will give her the happiness and contentment she's always sought.

I'VE GOT A WIFE...

■ Hollywood is just a spot on the map, tucked in somewhere between Beverly Hills and the rest of the world but its citizens are among the most famous people in the world. However, people are people, and they're all the same wherever you go; they like good times, glitter and glamour. Sometimes these particular folks, the Hollywood-ites, take their good times to places like New York and Las Vegas. It doesn't matter. Wherever they go, you can be sure that mirth and merriment follow. On these pages we will peek over the camera-man's shoulders for a look-see into the fabulous world of whoop-de-doo that is almost guaranteed when the stars step out. Married couples—courtin' couples—and celebrities in every stage of romance—in and out of the gossip columns love to go a-partying. We can eavesdrop on these parties in Hollywood—the big bash Frank Sinatra threw in Las Vegas recently—and the twenty-first birthday party for Bobby Rydell in New York's Luau 400 restaurant. Let's join the party!

Left, Edd Byrnes, Asa Maynor still act like newly-weds, tho'wed over a year.

Doug, Barbara (Luna) McClure are hoping to star in a TV series together real soon.

Lucy Ball always makes hubby Gary Morton laugh, but Joe E. Brown just listens.

THE JOY OF MY LIFE

Guess what Paula Prentiss and hubby Dick Benjamin like to do whenever they get a chance? Give up? They study drama and act in school plays.

June Haver's spouse, Fred MacMurray, is eager to show pix of their kids.

Bob Taylor and Ursula share a love for horses. Happily-wed couple own some top thoroughbreds.

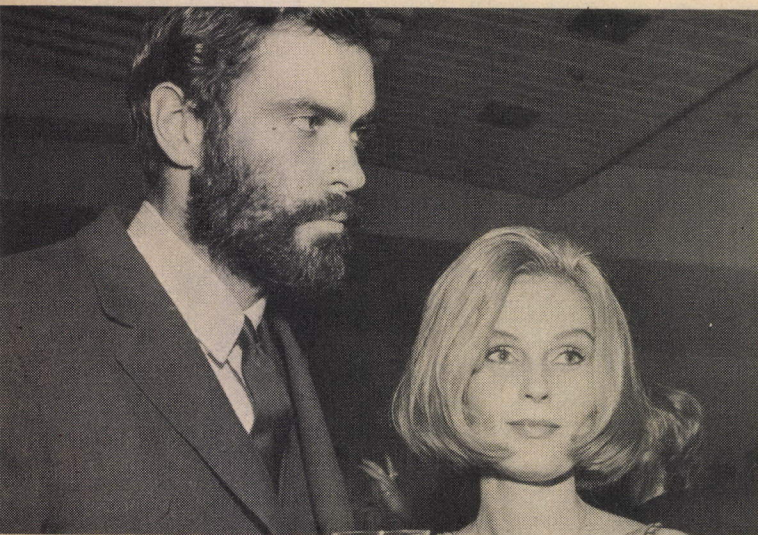

Why does Warren Cowan beam? He just saw wife Barbara Rush in film, Come Blow Your Horn.

Peter Graves (Jim Arness' brother) listens as wife Joan describes the new hat she bought that day.

PLAYING "PARTY"

Gard McKay's behind the chin decoration. Pamela Curran's decorating his evening.

Britishers Joan Fontaine and Jack Hawkins are old friends. Joan has been dating cartoonist Charles Addams who will be getting a fabulous wife, if and when they decide to wed. Joan's cooking is super-plus perfection.

Ross Martin, Connie Hines becoming regular dating twosome.

Jane Feinberg is putting stars in Dewey Martin's eyes of late.

POLITICS

Will Hutchins and Erika Peters are sharing a romantic secret.

■ Three guesses on what is, today, the fastest method of communication. Telephone? ... No! Telegraph? ... No! Telstar? ... You're close. Actually, it's tell a star—any star, something particularly interesting, and before you know it, all of Hollywood is discussing that certain gossip item. It's not that movie stars gossip, gossip, gossip, you understand. It's just that when people in the same business get together at a party, it's inevitable that they talk about the folks they know. For example, when Debbie Reynolds went to England last May, all of Hollywood waited to hear what would happen if Debbie would meet Elizabeth Taylor who just happened to be winding up her final scenes in the film, The VIP's, in London. That topic was kicked around in every circle of Hollywood society until somebody just happened to ask Debbie what she'd do if, when and how she met Liz. Said Debbie, "Why, I'd just say, 'hello,' of course. Why not?" If you keep your eyes and ears open at a Hollywood party, you're sure to hear something sensational. One other top personality, Gardner McKay, drew a lot of questions about his dates in Paris just a few months back. Seems that Gard was the lucky man who met, talked with, and then wined and dined none other than Brigitte Bardot. Was that "talk" talk of romance, asked his fellow party-goers. "We spoke about a lot of things," answered Mr. McKay, with a definite gleam in his eye. And so it goes ...

June Ellis may yet change Eric Fleming's ideas from a confirmed bachelor to a pipe-and-slippers guy. They're a constant duo.

Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl went to Europe to relax, but friends insisted they come to parties, so they did.

LIVIN' IT UP— LAS VEGAS STYLE

At the gala party, Frank took time out to talk about his new discovery, Tony Bill (photo above). "Kid's going places," said Frank. Big bash at the Sands kept Frank busy greeting folks from newspapers and magazines, including, of course, MOVIE MIRROR YEARBOOK.

Come Blow Your Horn stars—Tony Bill, Barbara Rush, Frank Sinatra, Jill St. John, Lee J. Cobb and Greta Randall played host to the press at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas last May. Everyone had, as Frank would say . . . "a gas!"

Far left, Jill St. John who stars with Frank in Come Blow Your Horn, has been rumored to be his new romance item. But, neither would say "yes or no." Left, Greta Randall's willowy beauty graces the film. Guest, jockey Jackie Heller, found her "very charming."

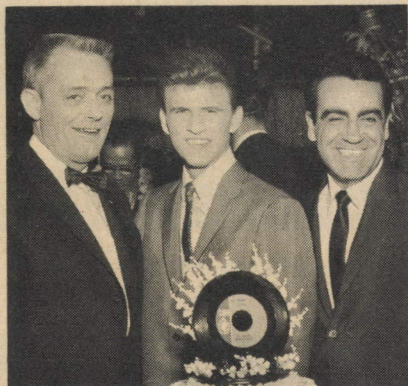

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BOBBY

Bobby Rydell and parents, Al and Jennie, were co-hosts of Bobby's party at New York's Luau.

Joey Bishop came along to wish Bobby a Happy Twenty-first.

Dick White, left, appointed Bobby Chairman, "Teenagers March Against Leukemia." Right, Mgr. Frank Day.

Timi Yuro, Jill Haworth were two of the lovely guests. Bobby said hello to every one of the big crowd who came.

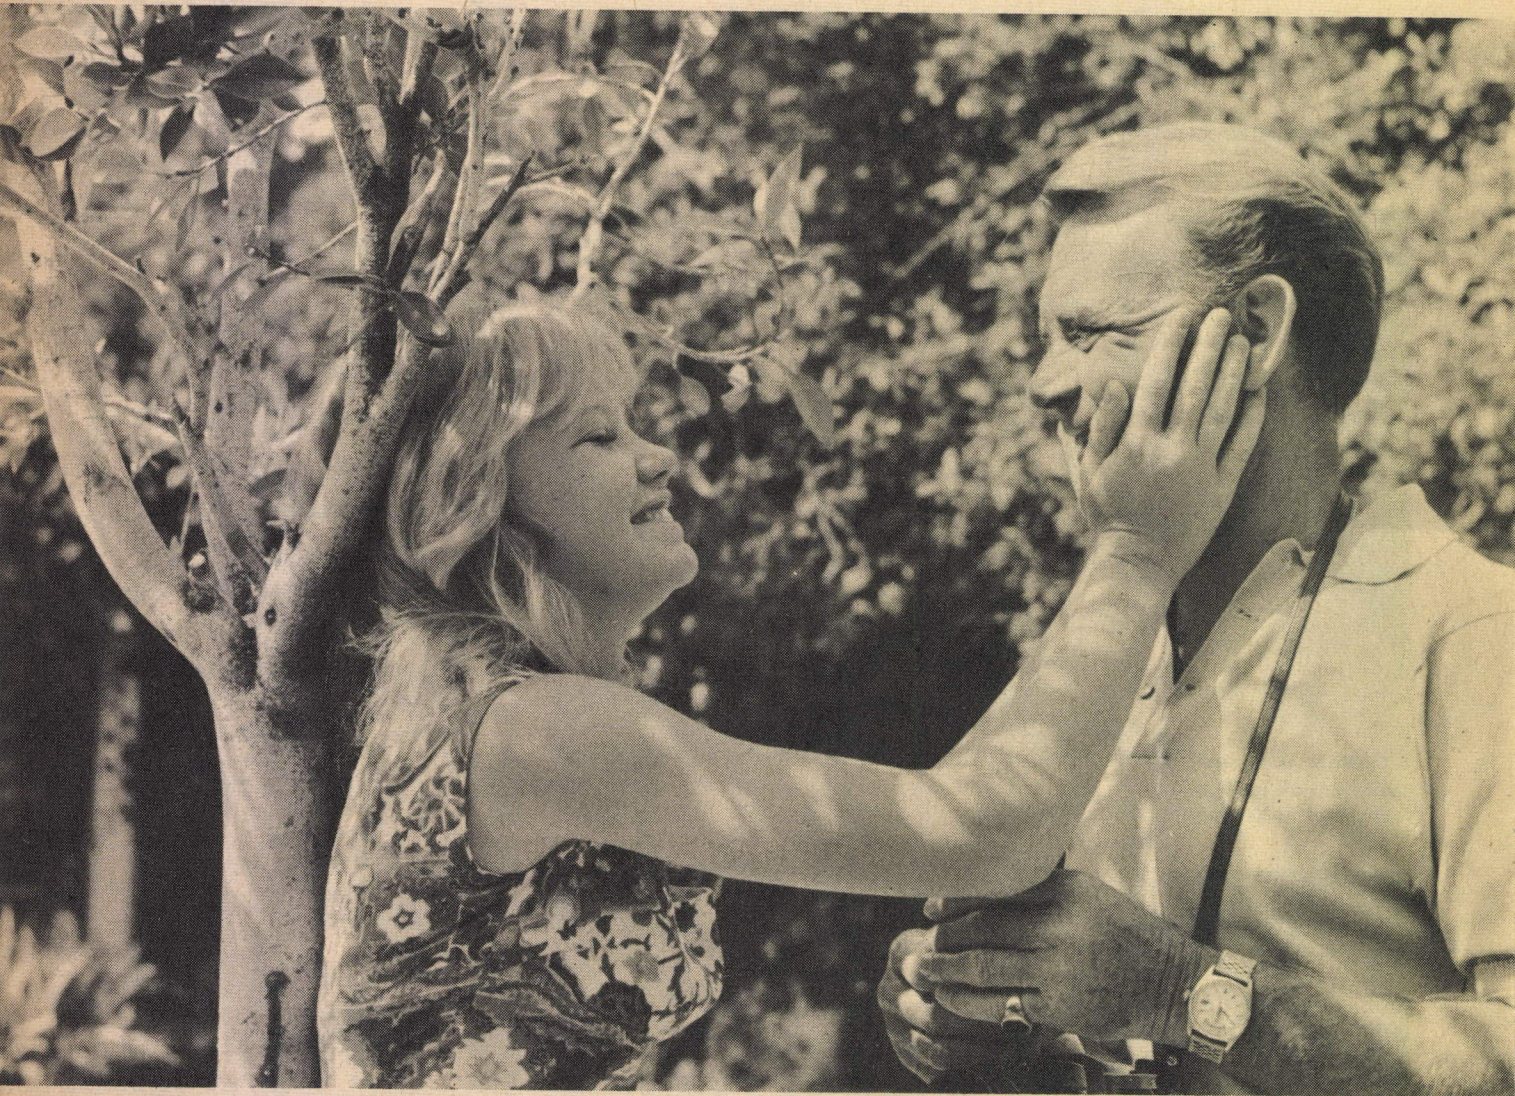

Diana Dors mentioned the fact that Bobby was as big a star in England as in the States. She's a long-time fan of the singer.

BABES in the HOLLYWOOD

Dad, John Mills, supervises Hayley's career closely. Never allows film work to interfere with her schooling.

Hayley's "dates" for gala premieres are usually with her mom, Mary Mills and dad. Hayley's off-screen make-up is limited to lipstick.

The Mills family own a farm in Sussex, England. Hayley's pets include a horse, a dog, and 2 cats.

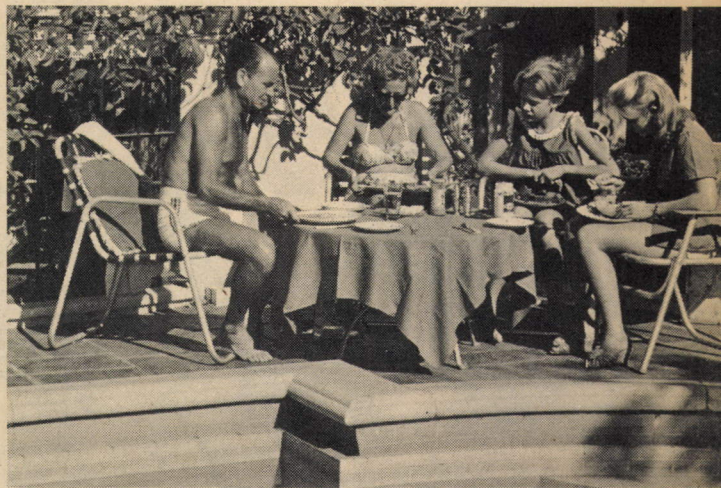

YES MY DARLING DAUGHTER

HAYLEY MILLS:

MISS BRITTANIA RULES THE RAVES!

SHE'S blonde, bubbly, and terribly British, Hayley Mills, seventeen-and-a-half-years old. She's famous, and in demand by film producers all over the world but she is content to bask in the love and warmth of her wonderful family. Many young men would like to date her. She has, on occasion, stepped out with young Michael Anderson, Jr. and Frank Sinatra, Jr., but her best guy is still her dad, actor John Mills. Hayley first glimpsed the foggy dawn of London, England on April 18th, 1946. She was born into one of the most respected theatrical families in Britain. John Mills has been called one of the finest actors in the world. Her mom is novelist Mary Hayley Bell. Sister Juliet is a stage actress who has been married for four years. Brother Jonathan is the typical "kid brother" who would rather become an astronaut, if he doesn't become an actor first. The future for Hayley is bright. But what she wants most is not career success, but the right young "Mr. Right" to come her way before too long. She's waiting for him but until he shows up, she'll be very happy being an unspoiled teenager, in love with life and in love with her wonderful family.

Hayley and John Mills star in Universal's The Chalk Garden (Universal City, Calif.).

Sister, Juliet (right) is married. A typical Mills, she won high acclaim from critics for her stage work.

Hayley and Frank Sinatra, Jr. made headlines when they "dated" but dad, John, went along with couple.

First film for Hayley was Tiger Bay. She was eleven. Dad appeared in it but admits she "stole the show."

MAY WE GO OUT TO PLAY?

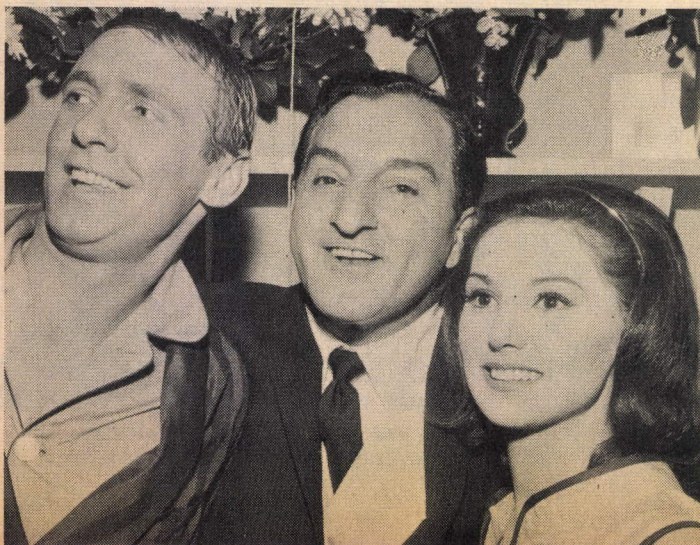

Liza Minelli's show biz debut in revue, Best Foot Forward, wowed New York critics.

PROUD AS PUNCH IS JUDY

■ April, 1963 goes down in show business history as the month and year in which a super-talented daughter of a super-super-talented star made her explosive impact on a sophisticated, white tie and evening-gowned New York audience in a revival of the stage revue, Best Foot Forward. Belting out a song like mom, dancing like mom, Judy Garland's eighteen-year-old daughter, Liza Minelli, proved that talent runs in the family. Liza was born to Judy of her first marriage to screen director, Vincente

Minelli. Growing up in the midst of show people, it was inevitable that Liza would succumb to the malady of melody. And, in her debut she also proved she's very much a unique personality on her own. There is an extra something that sets liltin' Liza apart. The extra something is the spark that will explode into a super-nova of stardom for Liza . . . and Judy is proud as punch.

NO DOUBTING THESE THOMASES

■ Danny Thomas' beautiful twenty-three-year-old daughter, Marlo, has been garnering all sorts of laurels for her acting and for her bright and sparkling comic talents which she has, no doubt, inherited from "dear old dad." Danny's "bustin'" with pride, but the item that really makes his famous face light up with a grin is the fact that Marlo and actor Ron Harper are very much "that way" about each other. Danny's planning a walk down the aisle with his girl sometime this year when he'll give her away to Ron for a lifetime.

WHY DADDY LIKES TO BOAST!

■ Can't blame Paul Kohner for puffing out his paternal chest with pride everytime a candid cameraman hoves into view to take a photograph of Mr. Kohner and his lovely and talented offspring, Susan. Paul, a top Hollywood agent likes to credit daughter's very good looks to Mrs. Kohner. From mom, Susan gets that dark-eyed Mexican allure that brings the boys a-running everytime she hits town. At twenty-seven, Susan has yet to meet the man she'll wed. A long-time engagement to George Hamilton was broken last year but there are lots of lads ready, and extremely willing to take his place in her heart... but Sue's in no hurry.

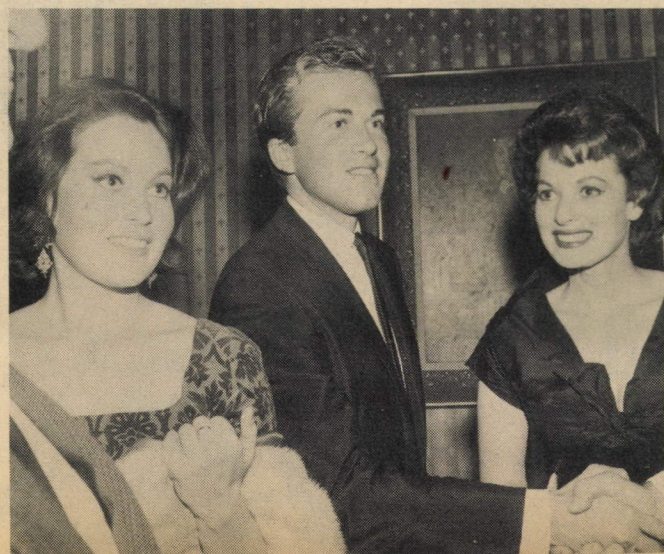

Susan is in Freud (U-I), Universal City, Calif.

B. D. and B. D. UNLIMITED

■ Stand back, world... another bundle of Davis Dynamite is getting ready to hit the screen in the person of Bette's lovely sixteen-year-old offspring, Barbara. Only—don't call her by that name. The pretty young miss prefers to be known as B. D. According to those who know the younger Davis lass, B. D. possesses the same kind of volatile talent that earned her mother the crown of stardom through the years. And, we hear tell, she's getting a bit impatient to go before the cameras and show a waiting world just how she can devastate a reel of celluloid with a winning performance like mom's.

WHY IRISH HEARTS ARE HAPPY

■ Her name brings up visions of soft, misty days in Ireland but she's as American as apple pie. 'Tis her fair mother, Maureen O'Hara who came from the Emerald Isle to become a top movie star. And now daughter Bronwyn Fitzsimmons is eighteen years old and recently made a film with mom. Of course, Bronwyn's future plans as a star all depend on how far her "friendship" with television actor Aron Kincaid goes. The two have been dating quite frequently and Mother Maureen has been heard to say she wouldn't mind it a wee bit if daughter decides on a career of domesticity instead of stardom with Mr. Kincaid.

Maureen, Bronwyn star in Spencer's Mountain; Warner Bros., Warner Boulevard, Burbank, California.

MY SON

Helen Forrest, Ziggy Elman, Tino Barzile welcome Jr. to showbusiness.

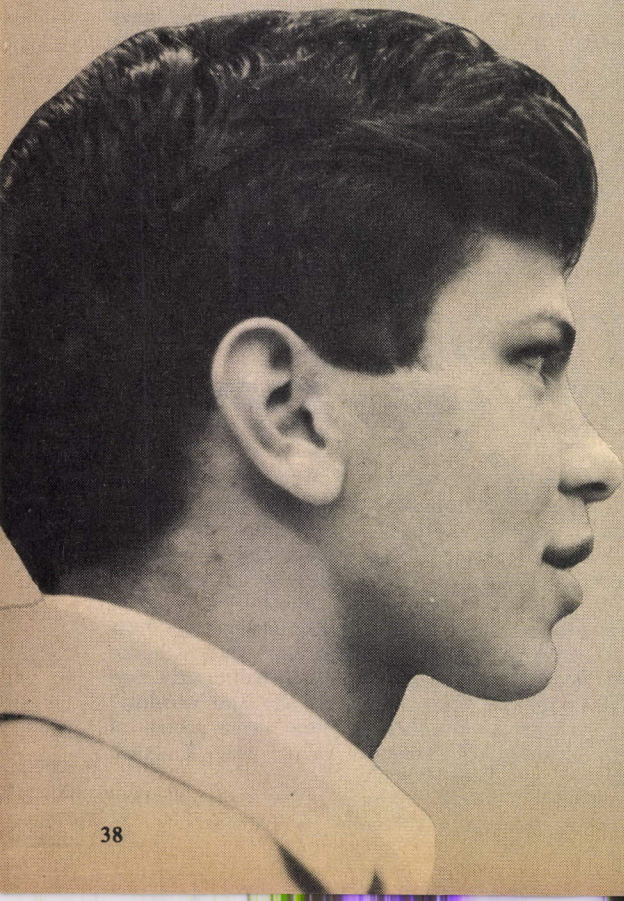

IS THE World Ready? It better be because from now on there's gonna be two-count 'em—two Frank Sinatra's titillating with talent! Both dad and son (F. S., Jr.) are currently devastating the female population (and it seems as if it were only yesterday that pop was making it alone). Eighteen-year-old Jr. has signed with dad's old orchestra (Tommy Dorsey band, now led by Sam Donahue) and he's also been appearing on various television shows. Frankie, Jr. is a pretty busy young man outside of his professional life, also. He attends U.C.L.A. His career going full swing, he joins his sister Nancy, and her husband, Tommy Sands, in being part of Hollywood's No. 1 Family of Talent. Next to be heard from will be little sister Tina, and she's just waiting for the chance to add to the laurels of the already very famous Sinatras!

THE ACTOR

Jennifer Jones • Robert Walker, Jr.

MOM—I MADE IT!

One of two sons born to Jennifer Jones and her late husband, Robert Walker, young Bob (who looks very much like his dad), has won praises in two of his films, War Lover and The Ceremony. Bob is in his early 20's and a happily married young man who recently made his beautiful actress mother a grandmother. For a while he wasn't sure about an acting career. Now, he's all for it, and has the talent to prove it.

Bob's film, The Ceremony, is a U-A production.

Gary Clarke

MY BEST GIRL

Mrs. Rita L'Amoreaux had every reason to be proud of her date at a "Young Stars Dinner" recently held in Hollywood. The young man who served as her escort was her son, Gary Clarke. Gary's career is taking off into wide orbit these days since he landed a regular role in the NBC-TV series, The Virginians. Gary's recently been dating starlet Maria Perschy.

TOUGH GUYS, TIMES TWO

Like father like son are these two rugged specimens of manhood. Both dad, Bob Mitchum, and son, Jim, are the outdoor kind of guys who'd rather spend time hunting and fishing than putting on a tuxedo for an evening out in a Hollywood party. Jim, 18½ years old, looks a lot like dad, and folks out in Hollywood expect he'll be just as much of a screen idol, too.

Bob's in Rampage—Warners. Jim's in Young Guns of Texas—20th Century-Fox.

John Wayne • Pat Wayne

MY DAD, THE "DUKE"

Little Cherylene Lee is just a bit too young to appreciate the fact that she's the leading lady in a film starring two handsome men; John and his son, Pat Wayne. Dad, whose nickname is "The Duke," is proud as a peacock of his good-looking offspring. Pat, in his early twenties, may be planning to make John a father-in-law soon. Her name? Stephanie Powers.

Both Waynes appear in Donovan's Reef—Paramount.

MY SON

Jerry and Gary Lewis

WELL POP, THERE WAS THIS GIRL...

The last time Jerry and Gary had a father and son talk (or maybe you'd call it a "man-to-man talk") they discussed young Gary's dating problems; career aspiration; schooling, etc. Both dad and his eldest offspring are very close. Now that Gary's thinking about making movies the two are closer than ever. At seventeen, Gary Lewis considers himself a "real lucky guy."

Jerry appears in The Nutty Professor—Para.

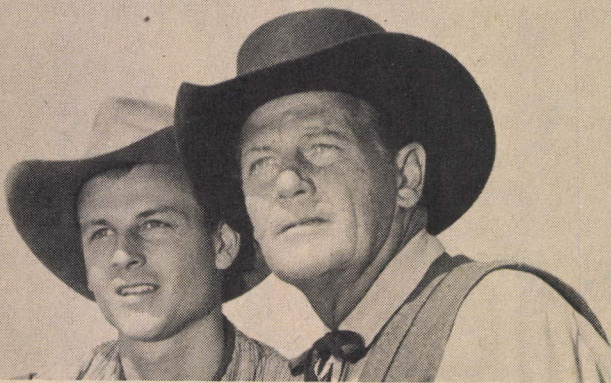

Joel and Jody McCrea

SON OF A GUN

Many years ago, when Jody McCrea was still a baby, his dad Joel was already one of the top stars in Hollywood. Today, both father and son are riding the movie ranges, making cinematic history together. Jody's career is off to a great start; Joel's seems to be hitting even greater heights than before. This only proves—give an audience a couple of handsome men to look at, and they'll look... and look... and look.

Joel's in Young Guns of Texas—20th.

The Crosby Boys

MEET THE OTHER CLAN

If ever a guy had reason to boast about a quartet of sons, Bing Crosby does. All four boys, Phillip, Lindsay, Dennis and Gary have made their mark as entertainers. These lads are Bing's sons from his first marriage to Dixie Lee. Bing has two other boys and a little girl born to him and his second wife, Katherine. Lindsay, Dennis and Phillip have a nightclub act of their own. Gary singles.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

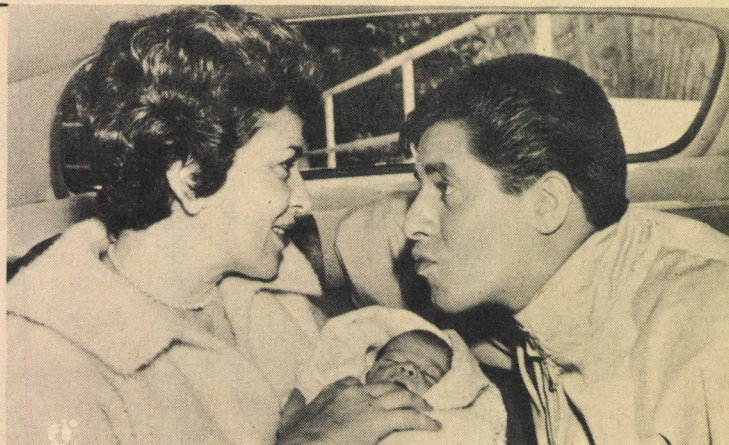

Jackie Kennedy: DEPARTMENT OF DIAPER DIVISION DIPLOMACY

■ Last Easter the nation was utterly captivated with the wonderful news out of the White House about the third Kennedy child's expected arrival some time in the late Summer. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, in the three years she has been the First Lady, has completely captured the admiration of all Americans and of many others nations by her beauty, charm and warmth. News of her impending motherhood brought congratulatory messages from all over the world. It seems as if it were only yesterday, but it was 2 years ago, that John, Jr. (photo left) made his debut on the national scene. Daughter Caroline, now 5, has been a celebrity and a favorite personality in her own right. A third little Kennedy will give all Americans even more pleasurable reading. We are a child-loving nation, and the Kennedy children represent all the tykes we love.

Jerry Lewis:

HE'S STORK-
RAVING
GLAD!

Patti, Jerry, and fifth baby, Anthony Joseph, who was born in 1959. Lewises look forward to No. 6.

■ "We'd like a girl," say Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lewis, and you can't blame them for asking Mr. Stork to comply with their request. After all, they now have five, count em, five boys. But, both Patti and Jerry also want to make it clear that No. 6, who is due around the end of the year, will be more than welcome, whether it's a little girl, or another son. Patti and Jerry's happy marriage began when both were teenagers. Patti's background is Italian; Jerry's grandfather is a rabbi. The Lewises are well-known for their work in charities for all faiths. Theirs is an All-American family.

Jerry's in The Nutty Professor, Paramount, Hollywood.

NEWEST RELEASES

Deborah, John and Anthony: WE THREE

■ John Ashley made a bet. On Saturday, May 4th, 1963, precisely at 2:23 P.M., John realized that he'd won his wager. "It's going to be a boy," John had told his wife, Deborah Walley, for nine months. Well, it was a boy... a darling little son whom the proud Ashleys named Anthony Brooks. The happy couple are still ecstatic with the wonder of it all.

*Debbie's in Summer Magic (Disney).
John's in Hud (Paramount).*

Julie Andrews— Tony Walton: OUR FAIR BABY!

■ Julie Andrews who conquered Broadway in My Fair Lady, and then lit up TV screens and films (she's in Walt Disney's production, Mary Poppins), is a mother now and hubby, Tony Walton, is already planning the future showbusiness debut of their baby girl, Emma Kate.

NEW FOR YOU

DOCTOR

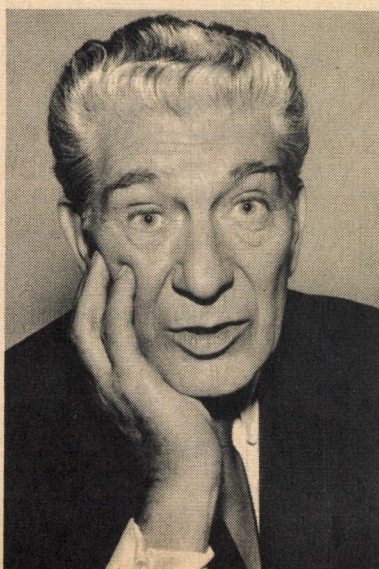

THE DOCTORS: NBC-TV

■ Margot Moser, of My Fair Lady fame, comes to television this season, along with Jock Gaynor in a new half-hour anthology series about the dramatic experiences of a large metropolitan hospital staff. Jock portrays a surgeon; Margot a child psychiatrist. Jock previously had starred on TV in Out-laws. On The Doctors he'll be Dr. William Scott. Margot is Dr. Elizabeth Hayes.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: ABC-TV

■ Emily McLaughlin and John Beradino are the principals in ABC-TV's General Hospital series. John, who portrays Dr. Steve Hardy, has had a long career in showbusiness having begun his acting at the age of seven in the famous Our Gang movie comedies. A top athlete, he has played professional baseball (with the Cleveland Indians) and still works out daily in a gym. Emily, playing Head Nurse Jessie Brewer started in showbusiness at the age of eight in a summer stock theatre group. She is married to actor Robert Lansing who starred in the 87th Precinct television series. The Lansings have a young son, Robert Frederick Orrin. For Emily, the role of a Head Nurse is rather a familiar one. For two years she practiced medicine as Dr. Eillen Seaton on Young Doctor Malone. General Hospital is seen Monday through Friday, half-hour daily.

BREAKING POINT: ABC-TV

■ Bing Crosby Productions, which presented the successful Dr. Ben Casey series to the public, goes into the psychiatric end of medicine with the new Breaking Point show on ABC-TV this coming Fall season. Featured as Dr. Mac Thompson, chief resident psychiatrist at a major city hospital is Paul Richards, an actor with the same sort of brooding good looks as Dr. Casey (Vince Edwards). Paul, whose own case history as an actor ranges through Shakespeare, films and TV, studied psychiatry for months before the series was filmed. His advisor on the show, Dr. Raymer, is portrayed by veteran actor, Eduard Franz. Breaking Point will be shown on Mondays.

TO VIEW

ARREST & TRIAL: ABC-TV

LAWYER

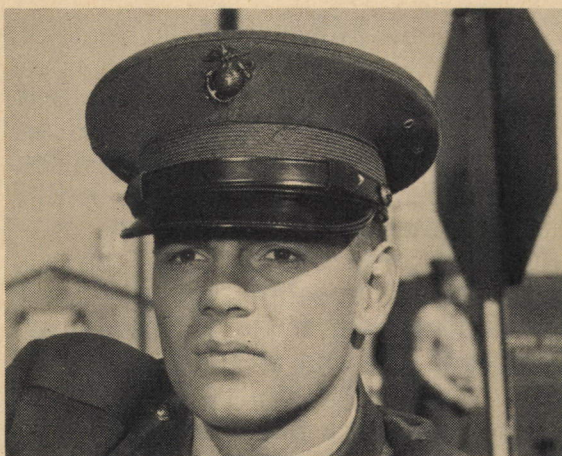

■ Law and order comes to the television screens this Fall with ex-baseball star Chuck Connors, left, as a dedicated young trial lawyer. Ben Gazzara portrays a member of the police department who finds the defendants Chuck will plead for. Both stars are New York City born and bred. Ben made his mark on the stage before coming to movies and TV. Chuck began his TV career starring in the series, The Rifleman. The show will air weekly.

WARRIOR CHIEFS

GALLANT MEN: ABC-TV

■ Seated left to right are Roland La Starza, Robert Ridgeley, Robert Gothie, Robert McQueeney, Eddie Fontaine, Richard X. Slatery, Roger Davis, and Bill Reynolds, the "Gallant Men" of Gallant Men. These actors are advised by a military hero, Colonel Lauer, who, in this picture, is holding one of his regular "briefing" sessions with the actors.

THE LIEUTENANT: NBC-TV

■ Gary Lockwood has never been so excited about a role in his life as he is about portraying Lt. Bill Rice of the United States Marine Corps. Gary went to various Marine bases to watch the men in action, and he's putting these realistic touches into this Fall series.

McHALE'S NAVY: ABC-TV

■ Ernie Borgnine (he's the one holding the teacup) and his crew of sea-going hearties keep the laughing lamp lit every week on ABC-TV's series, McHale's Navy. Plans are underway to float the show onto the theatre screens soon where the mirth-making mariners will keep us laughing.

RICH MAN

AMOS BURKE: ABC-TV

■ Suave, sophisticated Brooklyn-born Gene Barry leaves his Bat Masterson image far behind, but not too far, as he segues from the role of a Western lawman into the role of a modern-day police inspector who drives his own Rolls-Royce to and from the scene of the crime. As Amos Burke, an independently wealthy public servant, Gene has an opportunity to indulge his own taste in fine clothes. The Amos Burke character was first played by the late Dick Powell on one of his NBC episodes, titled "Who Killed Julie Greer." Amos will now be at home on ABC.

FLOOR MAN

MY NAME — BILL DANA: NBC-TV

■ Massachusetts-born Bill Dana first unveiled his lovable, winsome Mexican characterization, Jose Jimenez, on the Steve Allen show a few years back. Bill admits that sometimes he gets confused by who he really is; the sophisticated ex-script writer turned actor-comedian, or the philosophical, innocent Jose who, on Bill's new show, has come to the United States from Mexico to find a new life for himself. As a combination bell-boy and elevator operator Jose (or is it Bill?) will find romance and adventure in a swanky, American hotel. Jose will be on every Sunday evening this Fall.

FUNNYMAN

JERRY LEWIS SHOW: ABC-TV

■ On your mark, get ready, get set for a treat this Fall as Jerry Lewis comes to television for a solid two-hour per week festival of laughs and clowning in the Jerry Lewis fashion. Absent too long from the video screen, Jerry is a welcome Autumn delight. Although he will have a series of top-name guest stars, Jerry will carry most of the show himself. When a producer was asked: "Why two hours when a one-hour show a week is too much of an energy drainer?" said producer was heard to reply... "With Jerry, even two hours wouldn't be enough once he gets started on a stage... He's a born entertainer."

MR. NOVAK: NBC-TV

■ Handsome James Franciscus goes to school this Fall in the role of a young and dedicated high school teacher, Mr. John Novak. Appearing on the full hour, Tuesday evening series, will be some one thousand special guest stars... all students of John Marshall High School in Los Angeles who will portray the teenage scholars of Mr. Novak's "Jefferson High." As Mr. Novak, Jim will deal with "problem" students and honor students. Sometimes he'll have to play Cupid to iron out romantic mix-ups. Jim, married to Kitty Wellman, is getting plenty of practice for the day when his three-year-old daughter, Jamie, becomes a high school student. Jim has a new movie out, too. He stars in Youngblood Hawke.

TEACH!!!

TV'S KINGS AND QUEENS

CAROL GOES TO BED

■ Vivacious comedienne Carol Burnett first displayed her fantastic comic talents on television. On CBS-TV's The Garry Moore Show, she wowed millions of people each week with her singing, dancing, and clowning. Now she's starring in Paramount's Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed? Carol wed TV producer Joe Hamilton last May 5th.

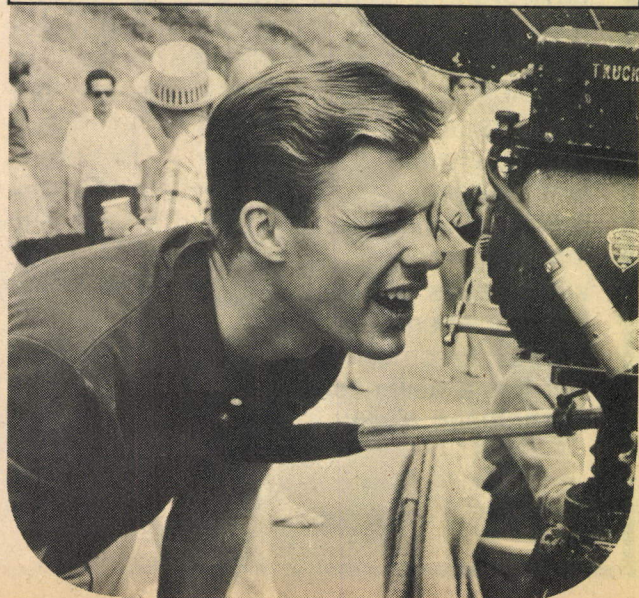

Carol and hubby Joe Hamilton expect the arrival of a little Hamilton, early '64.

KILDARE GOES A-COURTIN'

■ While Dick (Dr. Kildare) Chamberlain whispers sweet nothings to his girl friend, Clara Ray, the Hollywood colony is a-buzz with the news that the handsome blond star will soon appear in a full-length film, Twilight of Honor. In this MGM production, Dick does a switch; from a medic to a battling young attorney who wins his cases in court instead of the halls of Blair Hospital.

Below, Dick tries directing a scene.

MAKE MOVIES

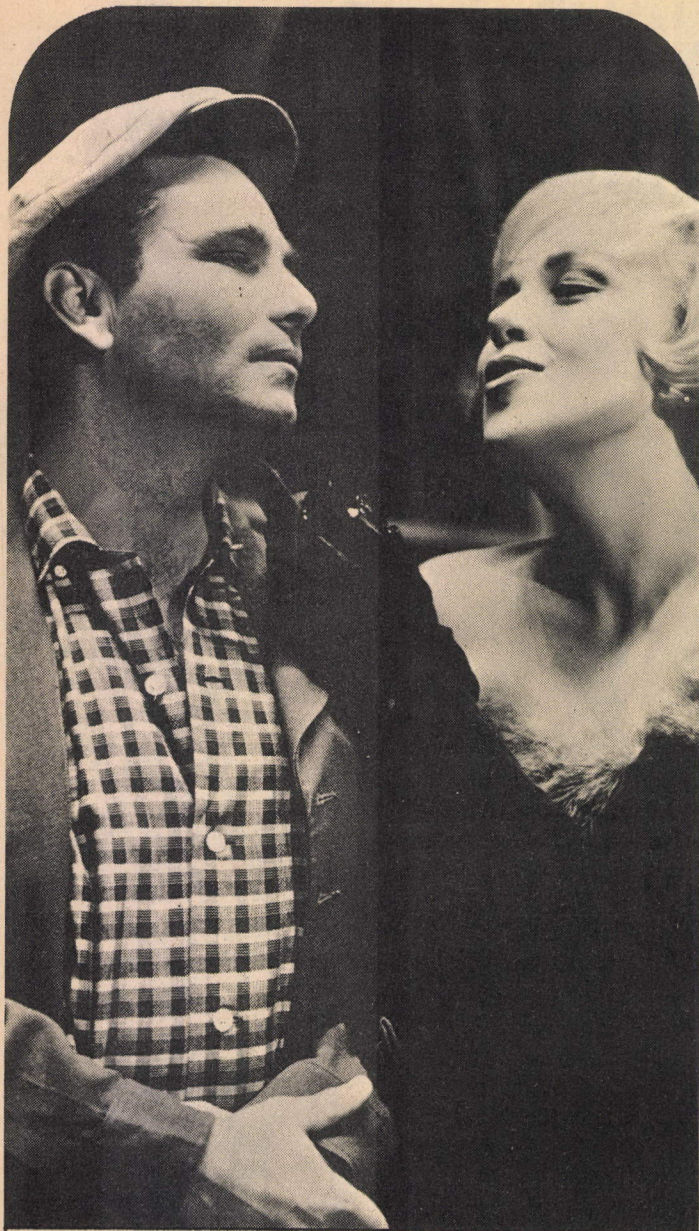

IN PRIVATE PRACTICE

■ Vince Edwards by any other name is equally well-known as ABC-TV's ruggedly handsome "surgeon general," Dr. Ben Casey. However, Columbia Studios borrowed the services of the dark-haired actor for a role in their epic film, The Victors. Vince went to Italy and England for his work in the picture which was quite a change for him. In his other starring film, The Scavengers, he travelled to Manila and Hong Kong. In The Victors, Vince portrays a war-weary American Army private who finds a bitter-sweet romance with Italian actress Rossana Schiaffiano. Adding to his ever-increasing laurels, he completed a fabulously successful nightclub act in Las Vegas last Spring.

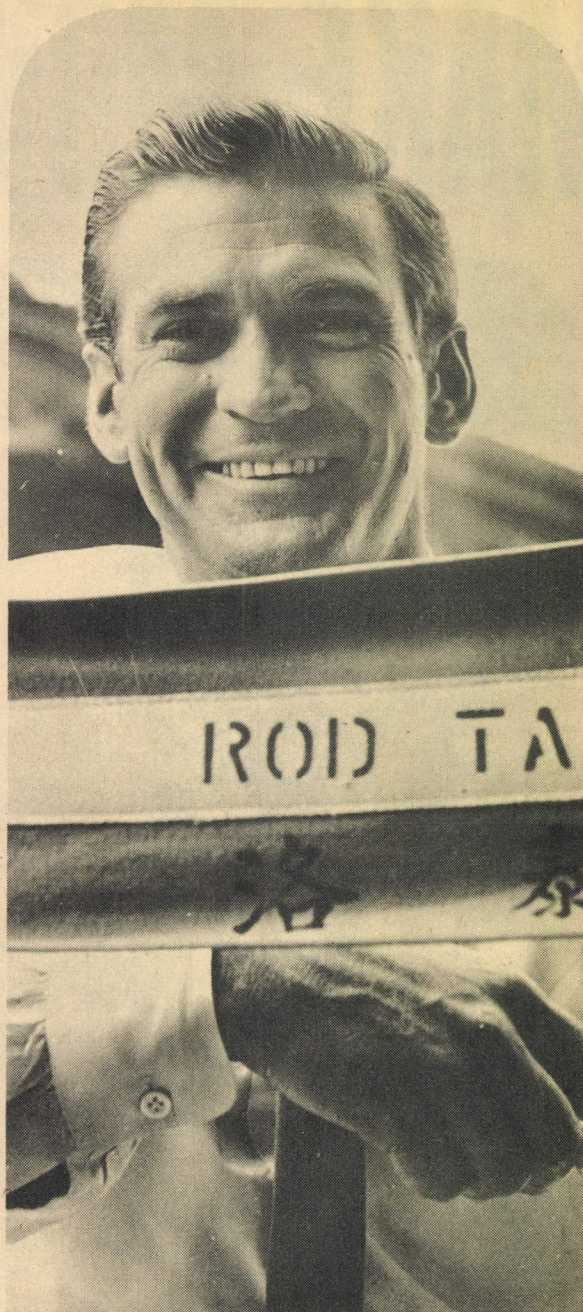

THE CRITICS' CHOICE — AGAIN

■ Where there's Hope, comedy is certain to be a Ball. And when you combine Hope (Bob) with Ball (Lucille) in a movie, you've got the makings of something wonderful in film fare. Bob and Lucy are teamed in Warner Brothers' side-splitter, Critic's Choice. Lucy's new show on CBS-TV (with her pal Vivian Vance) is already fracturing the ratings list. And, whenever Bob gets into the video camera range, everybody who can get next to a TV set tunes in. Lucy and Bob spell "unbeatable team" in Critic's Choice.

IN A MAD, MAD WHIRL

■ When Peter Falk appeared on Edie Adams' ABC-TV show, Here's Edie, last Spring, the viewers got a taste of the fun and hilarity waiting for them in the movie, It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World because these two terrific talents team up in that film, along with some of the top comics in the business today. (For example, Sid Caesar, Jonathan Winters and Carol Burnett appear in the picture.) For Peter, who won an "Oscar" and "Emmy" nomination in the same year for his dramatic portrayals, comedy roles represent quite a change of pace. Yonkers, New York born and bred, Pete has been called the new "John Garfield," and may portray the late star in a movie soon. Edie, the widow of comedian Ernie Kovacs, debuted as "Daisy Mae" in the Broadway musical L'il Abner. World (Four Mad's) is being released by U.A.

"DOWN UNDER" BOY'S ON TOP

■ Australian-born Rod Taylor, who made a terrific impact on the female population in the television series, Hong Kong (now in national syndication), is represented on the screen by the following movies: The Birds (Universal); V.I.P.'s (M-G-M); and Sunday in New York (also M-G-M). The Hong Kong show, fans of Rod will recall, was reinstated on television after the networks had cancelled it, when a deluge of mail hit the TV executives like a thunderstorm, demanding that handsome Rod return to the millions of viewers who watched him faithfully every week.

EMMY WINNERS

■ Last May 26, the coveted Emmy awards were presented to the top-flight television programs of the year. Among the winners were Shirley Booth for her performance in Hazel; E. G. Marshall for his outstanding role on The Defenders; and the Dick Van Dyke Show, as the best series on the coaxial cables. Other noteworthy shows were honored with the presentation of the tiny, but precious statuette which the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences bestows each year. (Shirley, incidentally, was the original Miss Duffy on Duffy's Tavern of radio in the 1940's.)

MAID OF HONOR—Co-star Don DeFore congratulates his award-winning TV "domestic."

THE VERDICT'S IN—and lawyer Larry Preston (E. G. Marshall) wins his case.

SERIES-LY SPEAKING—Dick Van Dyke, Rosemarie can't help laughing it up themselves because their show has copped honors as best comedy series of the current season.

20 BACHELORS ASK— ARE YOU THE GIRL FOR ME?

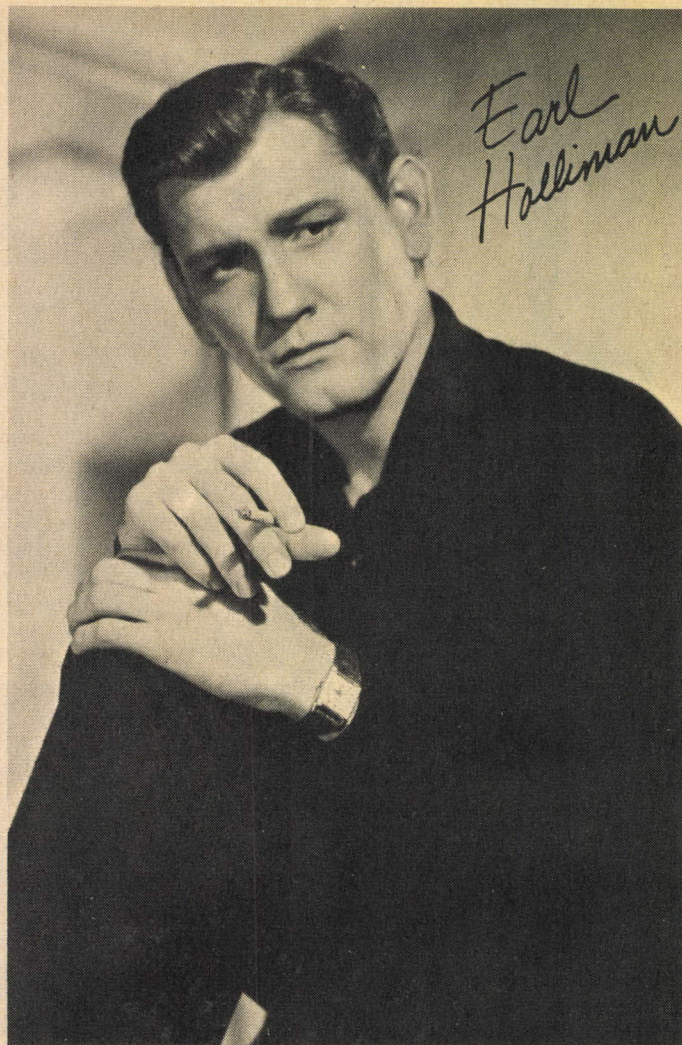

Please Turn Page

THE RUGGED ONES

DON'T PRETEND WITH ME

"I sure do want to get married some day," says handsome Earl Holliman, star of NBC-TV's Wide Country. He came close with Dolores Hart, "but somehow it never came off." About Connie Stevens, Earl says "I could have gone all the way . . . but she wasn't ready for marriage." Earl is ready for marriage. But for the orphan boy from the Louisiana swamps who rose to stardom, it's got to be the real thing — not just stardust.

Write Earl c/o NBC-TV, Burbank, California.

BE SWEET AND SENTIMENTAL

Andy's had very little "sweetness and sentimentality" in his life. That's why he always looks for gals who aren't ashamed to tell a guy how much they really care for him. He needs to hear them say nice things, but mostly, he wants them to really care for him because when he falls for a girl, he goes all out to show it. Since the age of 14, Andy's knocked about the U.S.A. doing odd jobs. At 19 he came to New York, determined to become an actor. Now, at the age of 26, he stars with Earl Holliman in Wide Country. Divorced from Sharon Farrell, he now dates lovely Karyn Kupciet exclusively.

THE SMOOTHIES

BE COMFORTABLE

"Aggressive-type women don't appeal to me, and Hollywood is full of them," Rock Hudson once complained. Although he's the nation's No. 1 boxoffice hero, underneath, 38-year-old Rock is still the shy, straightforward guy who used to drive a truck and still thinks its "crazy" he became a star. Rock was married once—unsuccessfully—to Phyllis Gates. For several years, he and Marilyn Maxwell have been a thing. While no one can call Marilyn "aggressive," according to Rock, "We're just good friends." Perhaps Rock needs a friend, a gal he can be comfortable with . . . a gal like Marilyn Maxwell.

Rock stars in Man's Favorite Sport? U-I, Universal City, Cal.

BE WELL GROOMED

Cary Grant attracts women like a magnet draws metal. And he likes his women to be both smart and chic—something very special. His dates with Israeli actress Ziva Rodann, Kim Novak and, most recently, Dyan Cannon (to name but three) prove the point. Cary, who readily admits to his birthdate, January 18, 1904 (he was born Archibald Leach in Bristol, England), has been married three times—to three beauties: Virginia Cherrill, who became the Countess of Jersey; dime-store heiress Barbara Hutton; and actress Betsy Drake.

Cary stars in Charades, U-I, Universal City, California.

BE A LADY

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., the famous movie hero and TV private eye, Stewart Bailey (77 Sunset Strip), has come a long way since he went on a Moscow vodka binge at 16, flunked out of Yale later, and through it all, was terrified of girls. For one thing, he's no longer afraid of the gentler sex. Efrem's been married twice. His background (his father is the famous violinist, Efrem Zimbalist, Sr.), has always drawn him to cultured, bright women. His first wife, Emily McNair, died in 1950. He and Stephanie Spaulding married in 1955, and divorced in 1961. Efrem's been dating Kay Gable, Clark Gable's widow, a lovely lady indeed.

THE SIGH-OH-MY GUYS

BE INTERESTED

Bobby Ridarelli was 21, April 28, and joined the ranks of the strictly eligible. What's more, he knows exactly the kind of gal he wants—and the kind of gal he doesn't want. He doesn't want a glamour gal type dressed to kill for a movie date . . . he doesn't want a phony. He wants someone he can talk to, be proud of, and bring home to his folks. Bobby's very close to his family, and the future Mrs. Rydell can count on living in Philadelphia near his folks. She can also count on frequent and exciting trips to Hollywood. With Bobby's success in the film, Bye Bye Birdie, there'll be no stopping him.

Write Bobby c/o Columbia, North Gower St., Hwd., Calif.

UNDERSTAND ME

Fabian says that he won't marry at least until he's of voting age. He'll be 21, February 6, 1964, and although it looked as if he and Annette were humming love songs to each other, the Fabulous One is still very much single. As Fabe puts it, "I need a girl that makes me feel completely at ease in her presence . . . whom I understand and who understands me." Whoever the lucky gal is, she must also understand his need to develop himself as a serious actor—not just as a singer who acts. Look for Fabe to be guesting on The Lieutenant (NBC-TV).

DON'T BE BOSSY

If there's one thing 30-year-old bachelor George Maharis can't stand, it's a hell-bent, nagging woman. That doesn't mean he wants his woman to be all feminine frills and candy cotton. Certainly not! He demands intelligence, compassion, and honesty. George, in turn, intends to offer the same. As a case in point, take George's latest female interest who certainly has all the prime requisites. She's bright, sincere, truthful—and definitely not bossy. She's also absolutely beautiful. Matter of fact, rumor has it that George is well aware of Tuesday Weld's qualifications. They're a talked about dating twosome.

THE DREAMERS

WALK WITH ME

Anthony Perkins has made screen love to many of the world's most desirable women—Sophia Loren, Ingrid Bergman, and Melina Mercouri. But off-screen, Tony continues to be the “shy guy” of film-land. In truth, Tony, born in New York City, April 4, 1932, is a dreamer. One of his favorite pastimes is walking along New York's fashionable east side watching people . . . just plain watching. Tony was engaged twice to the same girl, his college sweetheart, once at 18 and once at 20. Recently he's been taking those long walks with lovely Joey Heatherton.

BE TRUE TO ME

When Movie Mirror asked Michael Dante what he really wants in a girl, he answered: “Love . . . Love and sincerity. I feel things deeply, and if I ever thought a girl was insincere, I'd walk out of her life just like that.” Mike, born Ralph Vitti in Stamford, Conn., is still in his twenties, and already has 3 successful careers: as a baseball star, and as a movie and TV hero. He wants his marriage to be the greatest success of all. “I am against divorce and the girl I marry will have to understand that in my home I am going to be the man. I think deep inside every woman really wants it that way, don't you?” Yes, Mike, we do.

TALK WITH ME

Gardner McKay, the guy who left Hollywood to explore the world on a freighter, is a changed man. He's traded in his T-shirt for a tuxedo, his compass for a Rolls Royce (which he bought, by the way, from Tony Curtis), and his very, very private life for a round of Hollywood night life. Not that Gard was ever a recluse. His romances with New York model Dolores Hawkins and actress Greta Chi almost led to marriage. But he was never one for bright lights and group affairs. These days, though, Gard is anxious to talk about his adventures . . . with the right girl.

WORRY ABOUT ME

Hugh O'Brian is easily the most continental cowboy film-land has produced since Valentino rode the Hollywood deserts. Hugh has temporarily hung up his pistols to renew his friendship with the lovely Princess Soraya, both in Hollywood and Europe. Although many consider Mr. O'Brian to be the modern epitome of the roving gay-blade, Hugh has said: "I wish I had a stable home life—somebody to worry about me—somebody I could worry about . . ." It's a fairly sure bet that Hugh has amassed a whole list of "worrying women"—but thus far, no one has caused a single grey hair on Hugh's handsome head.

BE YOURSELF ALWAYS

Laurence Harvey is 35, stands 6 ft., 1-in., is terribly handsome and admits to having a bad temper—although he can usually control it. He also speaks Italian, Dutch, French, German and English. "My friends are people," says Larry. What's most important is that they're his friends. They're people he can argue with, make up with, and love. Larry was married to Margaret Leighton in 1957. They divorced three years later. He lists his favorite sports as tennis and swimming. "The rest," he says, "is confined to indoors." DON'T RUSH THINGS

Strikingly handsome Anthony George (Don Corey of the Checkmate trio) has a very secret ambition: He wants to be a beach bum. This could easily lead to problems in his love life since few lovelies relish boiling eggs over an alcohol burner for the rest of their lives. There's one consolation: Tony's a perfectionist and as long as there's a scene to work on, beach life will wait. Matter of fact, his work is so demanding, Tony says, "I have little time for anything else." Meantime, Tony's getting "preparedness" lessons from Susan Oliver.

THE RESTLESS BREED

DON'T BE AFRAID TO BE DIFFERENT

Stephen Boyd, like all Irishmen, is a supreme individualist. He was born Billy Millar, youngest of nine kids, in the poorest part of Belfast. Today, he's a screen idol and loves it. Stephen was married once to Mariella di Sarzena. It was love at first sight. They were married a week later but have since divorced. His unwed status delights the single ladies of Hollywood — and delights Steve, too. "Hollywood women outnumber men by at least four to one," says Steve. "... It's not only incredible, it's marvelous."

26-year-old Warren Beatty may well be the most exciting male to hit the screens in a decade. Although he was once engaged to actress Joan Collins, Warren is still very much single. His ideal is to find a really beautiful woman. And that doesn't mean necessarily pretty, but beautiful way down deep where it counts. His sister, Shirley MacLaine, has that kind of beauty about her—a feeling that she has something important to say. Warren's said, "I'm confused about marriage." The Easy-Does-

HAVE FUN!

Ever since boyish-looking Glenn Ford rejoined the ranks of bachelorhood (his divorce from Eleanor Powell became final in 1959) many a young lady has dreamed of putting him back into marital harness. The first was Hope Lange, followed by Connie Stevens, back again to Hope Lange, and then, a surprise entry, Linda Christian. Linda announced one day that Glenn had proposed marriage. Glenn announced the same day that he hadn't. And though hopefully they parted friends, they definitely parted. Next on Glenn's list, rumor has it, is one of Hollywood's all-time glamour queens, Rita Hayworth. Seems that Gwyllyn Ford, who comes from a proud family with a long tradition rooted in the Canadian Northeast, is forging new roads in the New World . . . and having a ball on the way.

LAUGH EASY!

Tab Hunter, the handsome blond Adonis of film and TV fame, has the wildest way of finding out what his gals are really like . . . He takes the lass to a stable and observes her reactions to the horses. If she likes them, according to Tab, she's sensitive. If she doesn't, she's had it. How does Hunter know? "Horse sense, of course." Beautiful Diane McBain has passed the test with flying colors . . . although the fact that she's beautiful has nothing to do with it. "Beauty is not what's on the outside. It's what's underneath," says Tab. But once you've passed his "feeling-in-depth" test, just sit back, relax, and have a good time. Tab is a marvelous date. Born Arthur Galien (pronounced Galeen), one pillarist described Tab by saying: "I know nothing in Hollywood is supposed to be what it looks like . . . but the truth is, Tab Hunter is just an uncomplicated kid, and a great guy."

BE SYMPATHETIC

Troy Donahue simply isn't built to be womanless. "If I have to go alone," he's said, "I'll run with the pack and wind up in a terrible rut." For two years, speculation ran high that Suzanne Pleshette had not only taken Troy from his rut but was about to grant him a degree in husbandship. The couple met in Rome where they were filming Rome Adventure. A year-and-a-half later, Suzy was winging to Hawaii to be with Troy on location for his TV series, Hawaiian Eye. Rumors were flying fast and furious that the two were secretly wed. Troy has said: "I love Suzanne for many reasons . . . for getting as great a charge out of the unexpected as I do, and then for dealing with it so well . . ." The Donahue boy was surely in love. He shouted it from the roof-tops to anyone who'd listen. And Suzy? Well, she had "no comment." At press conferences, the lack of Troy's name was conspicuous. It was almost as though she was not prepared to publicly recognize him. Today, L'Affaire Troy-Suzie seems to be over. Rumor has it that Troy is sending posies to Miss Pleshette, but his card is left at the door. Perhaps the couple can patch up their differences. If not, there are millions of girls eager to sympathize with handsome Troy.

THE KINGSTON TRIO

In 1958, the U.S. put its first earth satellite into orbit, De Gaulle took over France, and three young college types took over the United States. The boys, John Stewart, Nick Reynolds, and Bob Shane, better known as The Kingston Trio, debuted at San Francisco's hungri, and shortly after became the hottest property in show business. All three are married... all three have a young child... and all three live in the hills of Marin County, across the bay from San Francisco. Though not triplets, the Kingston's are surely an inseparable trio. Their latest single, The Reverend Mr. Black.

Write Capitol Records, 317 W. 44th Street, New York, New York.

THE SMOTHERS BROTHERS

"Smothers is our real name—how-ever phony it sounds," chorus the two zany funsters who can really sing—and beautifully, too, when they're not causing chaos with their spoofing mirth on the airwaves and night club circuits of America. Tom Smothers, the bewildered talkative brother and guitarist, is 26 years old, one year older than Dick, who plays bass and patiently tries to correct his fumbling brother in their comedy-filled conversation and oft-interrupted songs. The Smothers Brothers LP, The Two Sides of the Smothers Brothers.

Write c/o Mercury Records, 745 5th Avenue, New York, New York.

SKEETER DAVIS

Skeeter Davis, pretty songbird from Covington, Kentucky, was born Mary Frances Penick in Sparta, Kentucky, the oldest of six children. Her mom and pop weren't in show business, but they always encouraged Skeeter. She sang with top bands in High School—but country music was her real love. From winning amateur contests on radio and TV, she went on to become a featured TV singer in her area. Today, Skeeter is tops in the Country and Western field. Her recording, End of the World, looks like a permanent fixture on the charts.

Write c/o RCA-Victor, 155 E. 24th Street, New York, New York.

FLATT and SCRUGGS

If you want to hear what Bluegrass style sounds like, tune in to The Beverly Hillbillies (CBS-TV) and hear Lester Flatt, Earl Scruggs, and the Foggy Mountain Boys go through their stuff. Everything goes at top volume with choruses behind the lead singer who hollers in the high, lonesome style beloved in the American backwoods. Lester Flatt is singer-guitarist; Earl Scruggs is banjo virtuoso; and the rest of the band is top-notch.

Write c/o Columbia, 799 7th Avenue, New York, New York.

TOP COUNTRY-WESTERN STARS

ROOFTOP SINGERS, THEOBIKE, JOURNEYMEN, IAN & SYLVIA

Folk songs have been around since people long ago first told their stories in song. Today, old folk songs have been revived and new songs, describing our life and times, have come about . . . and so has the Hootenany—a kind of get together of voices and instruments where everyone takes turns singing or chorusing . . . and a good time is had by all. The Hootenany has become so popular, it has taken to Television. Every Saturday, at 7 o'clock in the evening, WABC-TV presents a good old fashioned song fest hosted by Jack Linkletter and featuring the top performers in the country. Above, the Rooftop singers, Theo Bikel, the Journeymen, and Ian and Sylvia join the students of Brown University. The show visits a different campus each week.

CLAUDE KING

Claude is city-born—Shreveport, La.—but country-bred. At 12 he bought his first guitar from a local farmer for the whopping price of fifty cents. Today, with such rousing hits as Big River, Little Man, Wolverton Mountain, and Sheepskin Valley to his credit, Claude is firmly established as a star.

Write c/o Columbia Records, 799 7th Ave., N.Y., N.Y.

JIMMY DEAN

There's a personable, lanky Texan around who's an all-round favorite not only of country and western music lovers, but of John and Jane People. His name is Jimmy Dean and his favorite expression is "Grin once in a while . . . it's good for you." It's great for Jim . . . His own TV show is coming up.

Write c/o Columbia, 799 7th Ave., N.Y., N.Y.

JIM REEVES

Jim Reeves has gone from baseball's first base (he was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals, but later injured his back) to first base in the country and western field. Jim, who lives in Shreveport, La., with his wife, the former Mary White, consistently makes the charts. His latest, Is This Me?

Write RCA-Victor, 155 E. 24th St., New York, New York.

KITTY WELLS

Kitty learned the art of the folk ballad as a child from her guitar playing railroader father, big Charlie Carey Deason. Today, as Mrs. Johnnie Wright, Kitty is a top star and the proud mother of two girls and a son. Her latest, Cold and Lonely means another success for pretty Kitty.

Write Decca, 50 W. 57th St., New York, New York.

RAY PRICE

Ray Price is a most unusual guy... this all time favorite often has two hit records going at the same time. For instance, Walk Me To The Door, and You Took Her Off My Hands are hand-in-hand on the best seller charts.

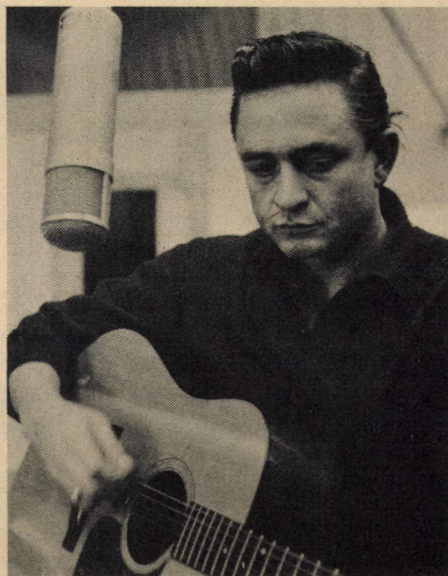

Write c/o Columbia, 799 7th Ave., New York, New York.

ROY DRUSKY

Roy not only sings well, he's easy to look at too. And this combination of good looks and talent means sold-out performances wherever he appears. Roy's record, Second Hand Rose, is a national favorite.

Write Decca, 50 W. 57th St., New York, New York.

JOHNNY CASH

In spite of great success, Johnny considers himself a country boy. Born on a farm in Kinsland, Ark., he grew up on hard work and singing—and still believes in both. His record, Busted, is a best-seller.

Write Columbia, 799 7th Ave., New York, New York.

CARL BUTLER

As a boy, Carl played only for his own enjoyment on a $7.50 guitar his mom had bought him. Today, his record, Don't Let Me Cross Over, is a nation-wide hit.

Write Columbia, 799 7th Ave., N.Y., N.Y.

TOP COUNTRY-WESTERN STARS

ROSE MADDOX

Rose left Alabama when, in her own words, she was just a "little bitty girl" and rode across the country with her Mom, Dad and four brothers in one boxcar. Rose has done a lot of traveling since, but first class—all the way. Her fans have seen to that.

Write c/o Capitol, Hwd. and Vine, Hwd. 28, Cal.

BILL ANDERSON

Handsome Bill Anderson is a self-taught guitarist and a natural musician. What's more, he's been successful in everything he's tried — band leading, music writing, and singing. His recent recording of Still holds the Number One spot in country and western tune surveys throughout the country.

Write c/o Decca, 50 W. 57th St., New York, New York.

WANDA JACKSON

Wanda sings a soothing ballad but mostly she rocks. How so much voice can escape from such a small frame (she's 5'2", 110 lbs.) has puzzled and delighted audiences all over the country... and partly explains why she's always a favorite.

Write c/o Capitol, Hwd. & Vine, Hwd., California.

LEROY VAN DYKE

Leroy Van Dyke, the country raised lad of Walk On By fame, doesn't do much walking when he spots a saddle. Says Leroy: "I'd rather ride than anything, except singin'." He excels in both.

Write c/o Mercury, 745 5th Ave., New York, New York.

MARGIE BOWES

"I enjoy life, every bit of it," says pretty Margie Bowes. "Sometimes I may get moody, but I'm glad, because I can put my feelings into a song and make the song seem real." Her philosophy must work. Margie's a hit wherever she's heard.

Write c/o Mercury, 745 5th Ave., New York, New York.

THE LOUVIN BROTHERS

Ira and Charles Louvin (Ira is the taller of the two) have all the desirable traits of top performers — humility, honesty, initiative, down-to-earth common sense—and an abundance of talent.

Write c/o Capitol, Hwd. & Vine, Hwd. 28, Cal.

MARGIE SINGLETON

When Margie recorded her first disc, The Eyes of Love, nobody became too excited. Within weeks, The Eyes of Love shot up to the top of the charts and Margie was a star. Margie, husband Shelby, and sons live in Nashville.

Write c/o Mercury Records, 745 5th Ave., N.Y., N.Y.

DON GIBSON

Handsome, serious Don Gibson has added hit after hit to his career. Don not only excels in country music, but is a master of inspirational song. It's been said that his hymnal records are second only to his live presentation of the powerful spirituals which never fails to leave audiences spellbound.

Write c/o RCA-Victor, N.Y., N.Y.

TENNESSEE ERNIE FORD

When Ernie Ford shouts, "Hi, Pea-Pickers" everyone smiles and understands him. Ernie's Tennessee "twang" is now ringing in people's ears everywhere . . . along with his melodic voice.

Write c/o Capitol, Hwd. and Vine, Hwd. 28, Cal.

ODETTA

Odetta's rise as the new queen of the blues and folk singer par excellence has been a wonderful show business success story. Odetta is a natural. She taught herself the guitar, and today she makes it sound as though it had fingers of its own.

TALENT WITH AN ENGLISH ACCENT

WENDY TURNER

Sweet sixteen, Wendy Turner makes her United States movie debut in the Walt Disney production, Summer Magic. London-born Wendy is walking on air these days because she's just been signed to an exclusive recording contract by Capital Records and can't wait to make her first album. Like her fellow country-lass Hayley Mills (with whom she appears in Summer Magic), Wendy's dating has been confined, for the most part, to parties and gatherings. She has not, as yet, gone out alone with a boy, but has been quoted as saying that she very much likes the "American way of doing things." So, let's give an American welcome to English Wendy Turner.

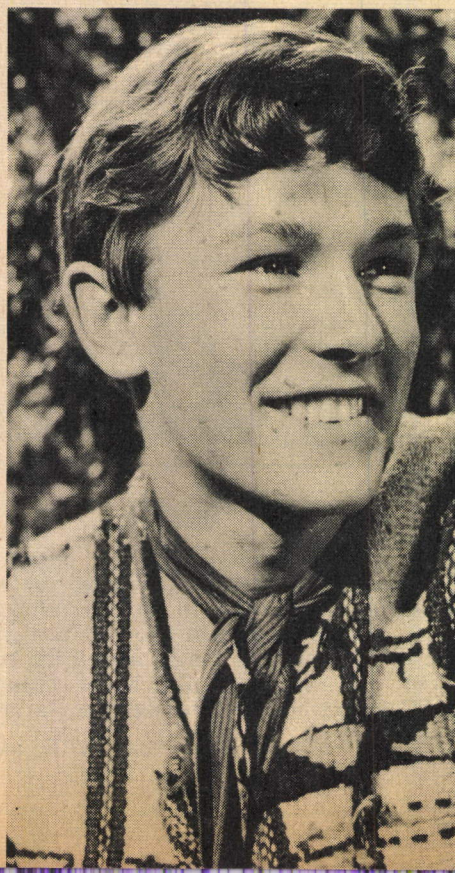

Write c/o Disney, S. Buena Vista Blvd., Buena Vista, California.

TERENCE STAMP

The brooding good looks of English-born Terence Stamp electrified the screen last year in the film, Billy Budd. As the final scene faded out movie audiences realized that a marvelous new personality had made his debut in the United States, and immediately, a flood of fan mail almost deluged Warner Bros. with demands that he be given more and more roles. Their wish was granted when Term of Trial opened earlier this year and Warners promises even more Terence Stamp in the future. At 22, Terry's on his way to success and we know he'll make it.

Write c/o Warners, Warner Blvd., Burbank.

MICHAEL ANDERSON, JR.

Mike's dad is the famous British director of such films as Around the World in Eighty Days and The Dam Busters. Eighteen-year-old Jr., stands five feet, eight inches tall, and unless we're very much mistaken, is going to break quite a few young hearts before he settles down. Strikingly handsome, he has dated Hayley Mills with whom he appeared in In Search of the Castaways. Now, Mike is making one of the finest films in his rapidly rising career, The Greatest Story Ever Told.

Write c/o United Artists, 729 Seventh Ave., N. Y. C., N. Y.

CATCH THOSE RISING STARS

TIPPI HEDREN

The young (in her twenties) blonde beauty who made her screen debut in Alfred Hitchcock's thriller-chiller The Birds, has been called the "new Grace Kelly." Like Princess Grace, Tippi Hedren started her professional career as a model, and like Grace, her favorite director is none other than Mr. Hitchcock. Tippi has the same cool, blonde loveliness that made Grace a star. As a matter of fact, it is being rumored about that Tippi will very likely inherit the lead role in Marnie, the film Princess Grace was unable to do last year. Unlike Grace, however, Tippi isn't planning to marry anyone with a title. She dates quite a few of the eligible young bachelors about Hollywood, but so far hasn't given her heart.

Write c/o Universal-International, Universal City, California.

GLENN CORBETT

Glenn's the new sensation of CBS-TV's dramatic series, Route 66. He shares the front seat of that fabulous Corvette with Marty Milner now as the boys cruise along the high-ways and by-ways of the U.S.A. in search of romance and adventure. Glenn had had his share of real-life adventure during a hitch in the Seabees. On leave, he met a lovely gal named Judy Daniels who is today his wife and the mother of his two children, Jason, 4 years old, and Jocelyn, three. The Corbetts make their home in Burbank, California, but love to travel.

Write c/o CBS-TV, Beverly Blvd., L.A., Cal.

CINDY CAROL

There's a new "Gidget" a-coming your way, named Cindy Carol. When Columbia was casting about for the "typical teenager" who would fit the Gidget personality, they chose a young lady named Carol Sydes out of 100,000 teens. Carol Sydes had already appeared on the "New Loretta Young Show" in which she had the role of "Binkie." Carol, 18, changed her name to Cindy Carol, and is now on the way to making movie stardom.

HOW TO START A FAN CLUB

Dear Fan:

So you want to start a Fan Club? So, why don't you? It's really very simple, and stars are always anxious to help you begin. As a matter of fact, Fan Clubs all over the world are often accorded privileges few other people can share. They are sometimes invited to attend premieres and openings of their idol's new movie. They learn all the inside "stuff" about him or her, and a Fan Club member has a status that many outsiders would envy. After all, he or she does have a more personal relationship with the star than most people.

How to do it? These are the steps to take...

First of all, write directly to the star. You can find his address in this issue of MOVIE MIRROR YEARBOOK, or, very likely, in any issue of MOVIE MIRROR each month. In your letter, inform the star what your plans for the Club are; how much the dues will be, what you intend doing with the Club's accumulated treasury, and how your Club will function in your community, both as a service to the star and to the members. For example, if your star happens to be a chairman of some charity organization, your Club might help the local chapter of that charity to raise money, offer services, etc.

If the star approves of your plans, he will write to you, giving you permission to start a Club in his name. This written authorization is very, very important. With his letter in your possession, you can begin recruiting members by sending a copy of his letter to MOVIE MIRROR, for example, where your duly authorized Club will be put on file, and all queries directed to an organization for your particular star, will be answered by MOVIE MIRROR, giving your name as President, your address, and a suggestion that anyone interested in joining, contact you.

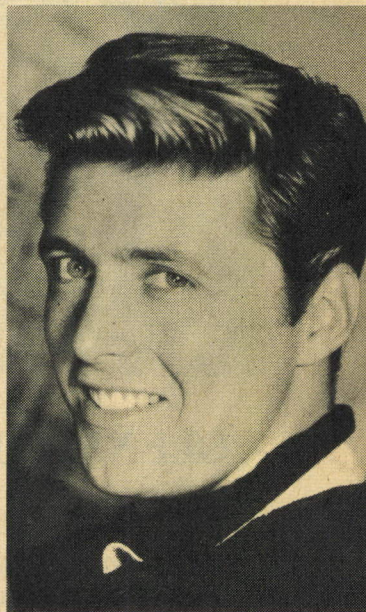

Good luck. We hope your Fan Club will provide you with many hours of good times and pleasure. If you have any questions, write to MOVIE MIRROR, 260 Park Avenue South, New York City, New York.

Regards, The Editor

EDIE ADAMS

Edie was widowed last year when her husband, Ernie Kovacs, died in an accident. She now dates Cy Howard. The Tenafly, N.J. gal (born Edith Enke) is keeping busy. Newest releases are Call Me Bwana and It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World. Write her c/o U-A., 729 7th Avenue, N.Y., New York.

EDD BYRNES

Edd recently returned from Germany where fans went wild for him. No wonder! His real name is Breitenberger (Jah!). He's married to lovely Asa Maynor. Edd upped the population of New York City by one on July 30, 1933. He's excited these days about his full length film. Write ABC-TV, Prospect Ave., Hwd.

NICK ADAMS

Nicholas Adamshock came into the world on July 10, 1931 in Nanticoke, Pennsylvania. Married to the former Carol Nugent, he has two children. He found fame on the TV series, The Rebel. Nick's big kick is motorcycling. Write star of Twilight of Honor c/o MGM, W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, Calif.

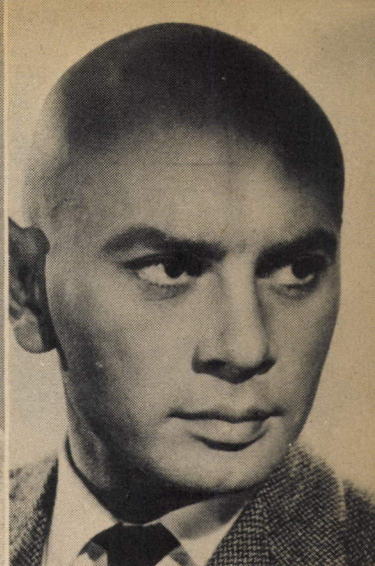

PAT BOONE

Pat's real first name is Charles, but don't call him Charlie . . . whatever you do. If you want to send the star of Yellow Canary a birthday card, drop it off on June 1st. That's the day he opened his eyes in Jacksonville, Florida, back in 1934. Address it c/o Cooga-Mooga Productions, Hollywood, California.

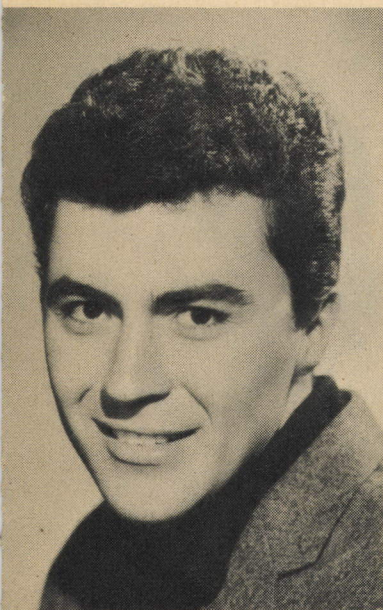

PETER BROWN

It's his real name, and Pete is glad he didn't have to change it. One of the girls whose name he'd like to change, however, is Diane McBain. Pete was born in New York on October 5, 1935. He is divorced from Diane Jergens. Write handsome Pete c/o ABC-TV, Prospect at Talmadge, Hollywood, California.

YUL BRYNNER

A man of mystery is Mr. Brynner. His studio biography says that he was born in the Orient of Russian-Gypsy parents, on July 11, 1915. Besides his heavy screen load, he works for the UN's refugee program. Yul stars in Flight from Ashiya and Kings of the Sun. Write c/o U-A, 729 7th Ave., N.Y.C.

JAMES DARREN

Mr. and Mrs. Ercolani welcomed little Jimmy into their Philadelphia home on June 8, 1936. Today, he's the father of two sons, Jimmy, Jr. (born of his first marriage), and Chris, born to him and Evy Norlund. An ex-singer, he rated raves in A Young Man's Fancy. Write c/o U-A, 729 7th Ave., N. Y.

ANGIE DICKINSON

Angie wanted to be a secretary. Then she won a beauty contest and became a success in movies and TV. She was born on Sept. 30, 1931. She'd dated Frank Sinatra for a while, but currently, she's still very much Miss Eligible. Now in Capt. Newman, M.D., write c/o Universal, Universal City, California.

KIRK DOUGLAS

For Love or Money is Kirk's newest film, and that about describes how he regards his work as an actor. He'd do it for nothing, but he just happens to be one of the best paid actors in Hollywood. New York born (on Dec. 9, 1916), his real name is Issur Danielovitch. Write c/o Universal, Universal City, Cal.

RICHARD EGAN

Dick's a San Franciscan, born there on July 29, 1923. Today, the star of NBC-TV's Empire series is a happily married man and a proud father. Before becoming an actor, Dick was a teacher. He holds a Master's degree from Stanford University. Write c/o NBC-TV, W. Alameda Blvd., Burbank, California.

SHELLEY FABARES

After practically growing up on the Donna Reed Show, Shelley has decided to make it on her own as a recording artist. Not quite twenty (she was born on January 19, 1944 in Santa Monica, California) she has been active in show business most of her young life. Write her c/o ABC-TV, Prospect Ave., Hwd.

ERIC FLEMING

A television career as a tough, two-fisted cowpuncher on Rawhide has catapulted the so-far-confirmed bachelor into stardom. He was born in Santa Paula, California, on July 4, 1931, and, we suppose tries to keep his birthdays a consistent Independence Day. Write c/o CBS, Hollywood, California.

JANE FONDA

By now everyone knows all about Henry's little girl, grown up and glamorous and a successful movie star, as well. Jane's appearing in Sunday in New York. She's twenty-three years old, born and raised in New York City, except for a few years in Paris where she studied painting. Write MGM, Culver City, Calif.

TONY FRANCIOSA

A stage career on Broadway led to movie stardom for New Yorker Tony. Incidentally, Tony's birthdate falls on October 25th making him a Scorpio, and a Scorpio's principal sign is Strength. Believe us, Tony is a strong man . . . physically and artistically. Write c/o Columbia, North Gower St., Hollywood, Cal.

JACKIE GLEASON

Brooklyn's own, the multi-talented star of films, TV and recordings was born on Feb. 26, 1916. His most recent film is Papa's Delicate Condition. Jackie and his wife were estranged for a few years, but were happily reconciled at the wedding of their daughter. Write c/o Para., 5451 Marathon, Hwd., Cal.

CARY GRANT

Bristol, England's Archibald Alexander Leach isn't hiding his birthdate from anyone. He's proud of it. Jan. 18, 1904. While many men his age are "busy" sitting around, Cary's busy making movies, and keeping up his reputation for romancing. Write Charades star c/o Universal, Universal City, California.

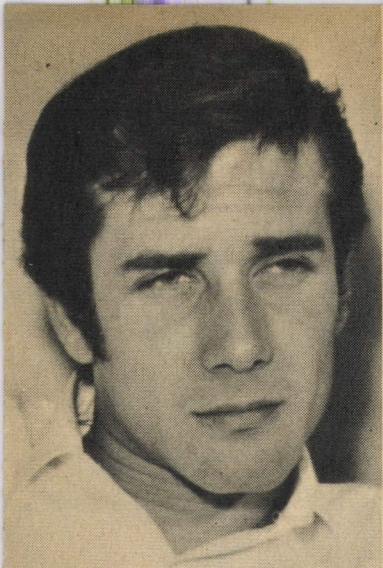

TY HARDIN

Orison Hungerford (Ty's real name) and his lovely wife, Marlene Schmidt (Miss Universe, 1962) are pleased as punch at the birth of their baby. Ty, of a wealthy, social family, was born in N.Y. on Jan. 1, 1930. Write P.T. 109, Wall of Noise star c/o Warner Bros., Warner Blvd., Burbank, California.

AUDREY HEPBURN

Audrey's My Fair Lady, both on the screen, and in private life as far as hubby Mel Ferrer and son, Sean, are concerned. She was born in Brussels, May 4, 1929. Real name is Audrey Hepburn-Ruston, and she's the granddaughter of a Dutch baron. Write c/o Warner Bros., 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, Calif.

ROBERT FULLER

Bob's real name is Robert Simpson, Jr., and he's a product of Troy, New York as of July 29, 1933. Bob's biggest aim in life, as far as his career is concerned, is to wear smart tuxedos in film roles a la Cary Grant. The Laramie star is just a little tired of cowboy gear. Write c/o NBC, W. Alameda, Burbank, California.

ANNETTE FUNICELLO

When she was born in Utica, New York, on October 22, 1942, her family swears she sang instead of cried to announce her arrival. The star of Merlin Jones is dating Fabian, Tommy Kirk, etc. She may have a surprise for her fans in her next film. Write c/o Disney, Burbank, Cal.

AVA GARDNER

Glamorous is the word for sultry Ava Gardner. Now starring in 55 Days at Peking, she's rumored to be planning a wedding soon. She was born in Smithfield, N. C. on Dec. 24, 1922. Since her divorce from Frank Sinatra she's been living in Spain. Write c/o Allied Artists, 4376 Sunset Dr., Hollywood, California.

JAMES GARNER

Something's Got to Give is Jim's latest movie. The former star of TV's Maverick has become one of the most popular figures on the screen today. He's a Norman, Oklahoma boy, born on April 7, 1928. He and his lovely wife are looking forward to a European trip. Write c/o 20th-Fox, West Pico, Hwd., Calif.

SHARON HUGUENY

Of French and Indian extraction, Sharon came into the world on Feb. 29, 1944 in Los Angeles, Cal. She was married briefly, at the age of 17, to N.Y. actor-businessman, Bob Evans. Couple were divorced within six months. She is under contract to Warner Bros., 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, California.

JIM HUTTON

Jim's marriage to Maryline Poole ended last Spring. He's been dating lots of gals since then. Jim comes from Binghamton, N. Y., and marks May 31, 1936 as his birthdate. Called the "new Jimmy Stewart," Jim's talent for light comedy has gladdened the hearts of his studio. Write MGM, Culver City, Calif.

SHIRLEY JONES

Shirley's bustin' with pride because hubby Jack Cassidy's a smash in his Broadway play, She Loves Me (which describes how Shirley feels about him). Miss Jones was born in Smithton, Pa. on Mar. 31, 1934. She's in Courtship of Eddie's Father. Write Shirley c/o MGM, Culver City, California.

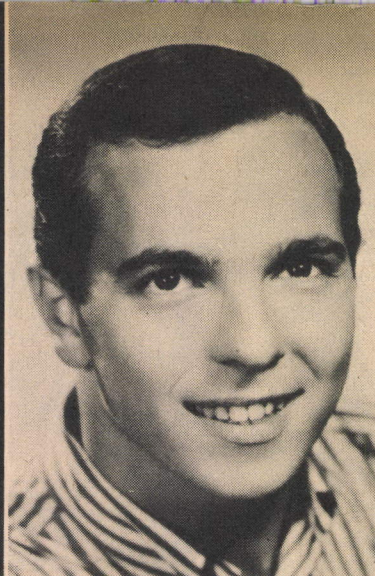

SUSAN KOHNER

Susan's dad is Paul Kohner, a top Hollywood agent. Her mom is a beautiful Mexican lady, and there's no guessing where Susan inherited her dark, good looks. She was born Nov. 11, 1936 in Los Angeles. Gossip says she's got a wedding date scheduled. Write her c/o U-I, Universal City, California.

BURT LANCASTER

As a lad (he was born Nov. 2, 1913) Burt was a real "toughie" on New York's teaming East Side. Today, Burt's new film, The Leopard, has won the Cannes Film Festival Award. Married to the former Norma Anderson, Burt has five children. Write c/o 20th, N.W. Pico Blvd., Beverly Hills, California.

RICK LANDON

Richard Landon decided for the theatre as a young boy back in Denver, Colorado. Today, he's 24 and sings, dances, and acts like a pro 20 years his senior. Rick's worked mostly on Broadway up till now (Gypsy, Fiorello, Richard II, to name a few) but look for him to make a full-length film very soon.

HOPE LANGE

Hope Elise Ross Lange and Glenn Ford met while filming Love Is a Ball and have kept predictionists guessing since. Hope, born Nov. 28, 1933, was married to Don Murray in 1956. They parted in 1959. She's a devoted mother to her two children. Write Hope c/o U-A, 729 7th Ave., N. Y., New York.

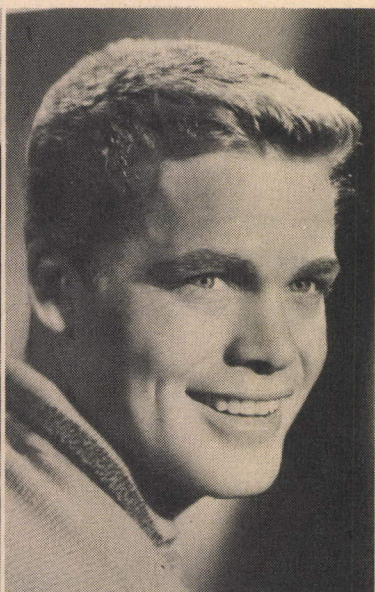

JANET LEIGH

Janet came into the world July 6, 1927 as Jeanette Morrison. Another important date in her life is September 15, 1962, when Janet married Bob Brandt. She had recently divorced Tony Curtis after 11 years of marriage. Janet stars in Wives and Lovers. Write MGM, 10202 W. Wash. Blvd., Culver City, Calif.

DIANE McBAIN

Diane was born in Cleveland, Ohio, May 18, 1941. Young, sweet and single is Diane—with of course, just the right dash of experience and sophistication added. Diane's a popular gal around Hollywood-town. Her next film is Mary Mary. Write c/o Warners, 4000 W. Warner Blvd., Burbank, California.

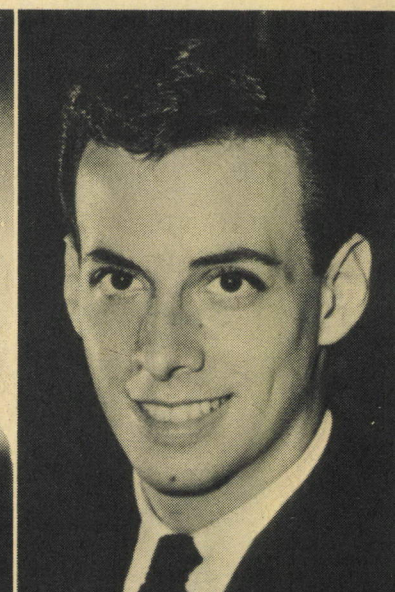

DOUG McCLURE

When Doug's not on the set of the Virginian, he's relaxing at home with wife, Barbara Luna. California has always been home to Doug, who was born in Glendale, May 11, 1936. Though many told him to, Doug's never changed his name. Write Doug, c/o NBC-TV, Sunset and Vine, Hollywood, California.

STEVE McQUEEN

Born March 24, 1930 on a Missouri farm, Steve was a seaman, carnival huckster, lumberjack, etc. Still hot for adventure, Steve did all the daring cycling scenes himself in The Great Escape. McQueen is married to actress-dancer-singer Neile Adams. Write c/o U-A, 1041 Formosa Blvd., Hollywood, California.

MARC MALVIN

23-year-old Marc Malvin was born and bred in New York, but his versatile singing and acting talent have taken him across the country. Marc hasn't been hooked by a lovely lass yet, but he won't say no to the right gal. Write handsome Marc c/o Michael Frank Hartig Agency, 156 W. 44th St., New York.

JACK LEMMON

Boston born (February 8) Harvard educated, Jack easily combines roles as top dramatic leading man and comedian. On August 17, 1962, he married Felicia Farr. Jack has a son by a former marriage to Cynthia Stone. His latest film, Irma La Douce. Write c/o U-A, 1041 Formosa Blvd., Hollywood, Calif.

BOB LOGAN

Brooklyn born (May 29, 1931) Bob was a ski instructor with aspirations to play pro baseball. Although he had never acted when he was discovered in a diner, today he's very serious about his career. Bob starred on 77 Sunset Strip. Write c/o ABC-TV, Prospect at Talmadge, Hollywood, California.

SOPHIA LOREN

Born in Rome, Sept. 20, 1934, Sophia was brought to Naples at 4. At 16, she won a beauty contest and returned to Rome where producer Carlo Ponti spotted her and cast her in White Slavery. Later, he cast her as his wife. Sophia's next film, Children of Sanchez. Write c/o Embassy, Rockefeller Cntr.

SHIRLEY MACLAINE

Shirley was born Shirley Beaty in Richmond, Va., April 24, 1934. Married to producer Steve Parker, they have a daughter, Stephanie. Steve's in Japan often which means a lot of traveling for Shirley — but she loves it. He latest film, Irma La Douce. Write c/o U-A, Hollywood, Cal.

PETER MANN

Peter, a tall, dark, 25-year-old Harvard graduate (born Dec. 19th), is a modern-day Hollywood fable. He came west on vacation and was "discovered" within 24 hours. He was a hit in his first film Pocketful of Miracles. Next, The Greatest Story. Write c/o U-A, Formosa Blvd., Hollywood, Calif.

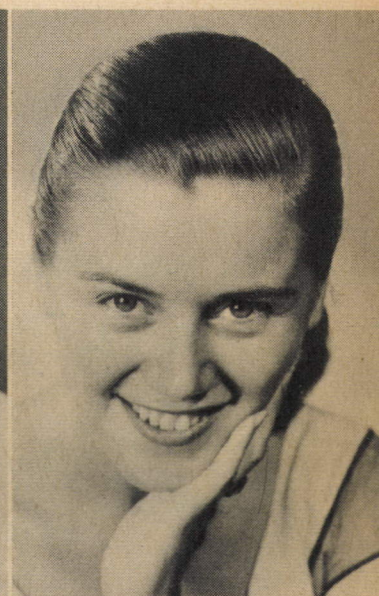

ROBERT MITCHUM

Bob was a bouncer, promoter and boat crewman before he settled down in Hollywood. He was born August 6, 1917, in Bridgeport, Conn. He married Dorothy Spence in 1940, and has three children. His latest film, Rampage. Write c/o Warner Bros., West Warner Boulevard, Burbank, California.

PAUL NEWMAN

Paul was born in Cleveland, Ohio, January 26th. All his life he was torn between two great loves — sports and acting. Paul and Joanne Woodward married in 1958. His first marriage, in 1949, was to Jackie Witte. A fine actor, Paul stars in Hud. Write c/o Para., Marathon St., Hollywood, California.

KATHY NOLAN

Kathy, of Real McCoy's fame, landed her first acting job at 13 months, when she joined her parents aboard the famous showboat "Golden Rod." Mrs. Heckenkamp (she was married November 4, 1962) was born in St. Louis, Mo., September 27, 1933. Write c/o AFTRA, 15 W. 44th St., N. Y., New York

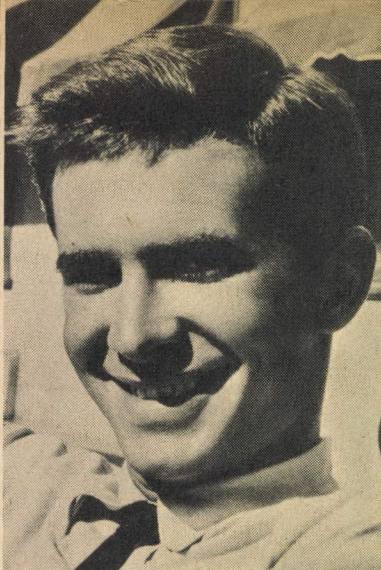

KIM NOVAK

The girl who adores the color lavender is pure box office gold. Born in Chicago, Ill., February 13, 1933, Kim changed her first name from Marilyn after signing with Columbia. She was an immediate success in her very first film, Pushover. Her latest, Of Human Bondage. Write MGM, Culver City, Calif.

GREGORY PECK

Greg, who won the 1963 Oscar for his role in To Kill A Mockingbird, was born in La Jolla, California on April 15, 1916. He first faced the public as a barker. Today, a Super Star, Greg's married to Veronique Passani. It's his second marriage. Write c/o Columbia, 1438 N. Gower St., Hollywood, Cal.

TONY PERKINS

Tony was born in New York City, N. Y., April 4, 1932 as Anthony Perkins. He's made on-screen love to some of the world's most beautiful women — Sophia Loren, Ingrid Bergman, Melina Mercouri.
